Marshall Blasts Russia For Delivering 'Ultimatum' to Big 4

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY TO JESSE H. MASON

Former Superintendent of Marion Schools Stricken at Canton

Jesse H. Mason, 57, former superintendent of Marion public schools and for the last 18 years superintendent of schools at Canton, died suddenly in the school administration building there Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Mason served the Marion schools from 1923 until Dec. 1, 1928 when he resigned to accept the Canton position.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday at the first Methodist church in Canton with the [illegible] Rev. C. H. LaRue, and [illegible] George Parkinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. The body will be taken to Mt. Gilead Wednesday for burial in Rivercliff cemetery about 1 p. m.

Mr. Mason suffered a fatal heart attack at 3:10 p. m. Saturday. He was taken to Mercy hospital in an ambulance and was pronounced dead by Dr. Scott Hill at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Mason who had been notified of his illness, arrived at the hospital as her husband was being taken into the emergency room.

Apparently in his usual health, Mr. Mason had spent Saturday morning at his office working on school matters and returned to the office after lunch. Shortly after 3 o'clock he left his desk and went to the second floor of the school administration building. A few minutes later, employes in the office went upstairs and found him on the floor. They called for the ambulance and summoned Mrs. Mason who was at the residence.

Although he had suffered serious heart attacks in 1940 and 1944 Mr. Mason continued to keep in close touch with all details of the Canton school operation, even against the advice of friends and medical advisers.

Launched Rebuilding Program

One of the high points of Mr. Masons career in Canton was the successful proposal for an all-inclusive school rebuilding program which he and the board of education prepared for submission to voters at the last general election in November, 1946.

His was the vision which inspired the comprehensive plan for modernizing the school plant and he assumed much of the intensive promotional effort to obtain support of the voters for the $2,825,000 bond issue proposal.

The crowning satisfaction of his career came with completion of Timken Vocational High school in 1939, the realization of a vocational training program he had envisioned for years

The school itself was a tribute to Mr Mason, in that one of the important factors motivating its generous gift to the city by the Timken Foundation was the confidence, frequently expressed by the late H H Timken Sr. Canton industrialist that the school would be in good hands Mr. Timken's personal estimate of Mr. Mason's ability was evidenced with frequency during the institution's construction and installation of equipment Mr Timkin insisting on Mr. Mason's judgment every step of the way The project entailed gifts by the Timken Foundation totaling more than $1,250,000.

Active in Other Affairs

Aside from his work as an educator Mr. Mason constantly gave of his time and energy to Canton's civic and religious life He taught a large Sunday school class at First Methodist church, was a director in the Y. M. C. A and served as general chairman of two Community Fund campaigns in 1933

Mr Mason served four terms as president of the Canton Welfare Federation, retiring in 1944.

He was a member of the boards of directors of two banking institutions, since 1932 with the Harter Bank & Trust Co and since 1938 with the Citizens Savings & Loan Co.

He was a 33rd degree Mason, a Rotarian and a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternities.

Mr Mason won national recognition for his vision in secondary education. In 1943, the National Education Association, meeting in St. Louis, elected him to head panel discussions in secondary school work. On many occasions he took part in vocational training conferences.

Started in Morrow County

Mr Mason's first teaching experience was gained at Sparta, in Morrow county. He went there in 1907 after graduating from high school in Montpelier, Ind., where he was born June 13, 1889, the

MINERS ALL SET FOR WALKOUT

Nation's 400,000 Pit Workers Begin 6-Day Mourning Tonight.

By The Associated Press

The nation's 400,000 soft coal miners entered the pits for the last time today before beginning a six-day work stoppage in memory of the Centralia, Ill. mine explosion victims — but industry generally appeared to face the prospect of curtailed fuel supplies with few qualms.

At regular month-end meetings of AFL United Mine Workers union locals, the coal diggers received orders passed down from UMW President John L. Lewis to stop work at midnight tonight for six days to honor the 111 Centralia dead. There were no reports of dissent and one large group called for removal of Interior Secretary Krug as mines administrator.

Krug said he would not enter into the mine work stoppage. "My sympathy for the bereaved families," he said, "is too profound to permit me to debate or to gloss over their misery by engaging in any press controversy over the catastrophe or its causes."

At the same time, the interior secretary stated he would make an early report to the senate on overall safety conditions in the nation's bituminous mines.

"The facts," he said, "will be known only upon completion of the several investigations now under way by the special senate committee, by the special board appointed by the governor of Illinois, and by the bureau of mines of the department of interior"

There were ample stock piles

TEAMSTERS WEIGH SPRINGFIELD STRIKE

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 31—The AFL Tteamsters District Council called a meeting for tonight to consider a strike of district union truck drivers in connection with a seven-day old walkout of local cab drivers.

Meanwhile, police reported a flareup of disorders that accompanied the cab strike over the weekend had subsided One nonunion cab driver, arrested yesterday by police on a charge of carrying concealed weapons was released on $50 bond. Police said they confiscated a heavy night stick from one cab driver and a lead pipe from another but that no charges were filed.

A. V Walters, vice-president of the executive board of the teamsters' council, declared, "If the cab strike continues for a long time, we will consider calling a general teamsters' strike throughout Ohio."

The meeting tonight, Walters said, was called to consider a district strike of teamsters, which would tie up nearly every industry in this city of 90,000. Walters said a state-wide walkout might also be discussed at the meeting which would be attended by union officials from Lima, Hamilton, Dayton and Springfield.

Protesting the non-union status of drivers for the Circle Cab Co, 35 drivers of the Liberty Cab Co. stopped work Monday night. The companies are under the same ownership.

Free taxicab service offered by striking drivers of the Liberty Co. using private cars was suspended last night by I. L. Roberte, business agents for AFL Truck Drivers Local 654, said the service would be resumed today.

Sheriff J. Arthur Shuman said that Robert Kline, 25, reported three cars blocked him on a road south of Springfield Saturday night after he had discharged passengers from his cab. The cab driver was quoted as saying that his car was overturned when he refused to get out.

THREE DRAFT BOARDS READY TO SUSPEND

Clerks Pack Records as Selective Service Law Expires at Midnight Tonight.

First steps to dissolve Marion county's draft boards began today as board officials received first orders of liquidation from national selective service headquarters. The draft act dies officially at 12 midnight tonight, putting an end to registration of men for military service.

End of the draft act means that after midnight tonight, the nation's youths will make up their own minds on whether they want to be soldiers Draft cards which men have been carrying in their pockets for the last six years may be thrown away.

The first liquidation orders received by the local boards gave no specific date for closing up draft board offices but instructed chief clerks to prepare and pack their records. Eventually they are expected to be shipped to a state selective serice depot, draft officials said

Chief clerks in the city's combined boards No. 2 and No 3 and the county's board No. 1 today were disposing of old forms and packing the selective service records of 11,475 men in the city and county. Records of boards No 2 and 3 totaled 6,500 and board No. 1 totaled 4,975.

Set Up Oct. 16, 1940

The three selective service boards in the county were set up Oct. 16, 1940, with board one having jurisdiction of wards one, two and three; board two jurisdiction of wards four, five and six, and board three all territory in the county outside the city

The original nominating committee for the selection of draft board members included Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young, Probate Judge Oscar Gast and James C Woods. Following Judge Young's death he was succeeded by Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith

Original draft board members included the following. board one, Henry P. Drake, E. R. Bondley, Fred Patton, Fred Morrison and T. E. Andrews; board two, Chester Roberts, J. J. Zuck, Don A Howard, Walter Dorsey and Charles A. Felker; board three, W. Hoover Brown, Dr. H A Hoopes, Dan L. LaMarche. Dwight W Mahaffey and Edwin K. Powell

Six Still Serving

Six original board members still are serving Three of them are on board one. They are Mr. Drake, Mr. Patton and Mr. Morrison. Other member of the board is Paul G. Boyd.

Mr. Zuck is the only original member on board two. Other members are Alfred H. Exton, Wilson Jones, Rex H. Robinson and J R. Smith. Another member who served for a period on board one was R. A. Garvin.

Mr LaMarche and Dr. Hoopes are the original members of board three still serving. Other present member is Ray G. Gatewood Also having previous service on board three was R Foster Highly.

First Chief Clerks

The original chief clerks were: board one, Mrs. John Phaw; board two, Mrs Mary Gary and board three, Mrs. Mayo C Adams

200 WORKERS START CANCER CAMPAIGN

Solicitations for $5,000 To Start Tomorrow.

A drive for membership subscriptions in the Marion County Chapter of the American Cancer society will start tomorrow, with an estimated 200 workers throughout the county canvassing.

An attempt will be made to reach as many persons as possible, in homes, business places and factories A minimum donation of $1 will be required for membership in the society, although smaller donations will be accepted.

The drive will be carried on through April 12. During the remainder of April, designated by President Truman as Cancer Control month, collections will be made by means of coin cans.

The goal has been set at $5,000 by the Marion county chapter of the American Cancer society and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the campaign. Last year $4,500 was collected here. Sixty per cent of the collections remain here and, during the last year, have been used to provide free cancer treatment at the cancer clinic at City hospital

The remaining 40 per cent is earmarked for the National Research Council for financial grants to private educational institutions and medical men to continue research into the causes of cancer.

Truman Loses Biggest Grant Of Power Given To President

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—President Truman loses at midnight the biggest single grant of power handed over to the White House during the war—the unlimited authority to ration and parcel out scarce materials

However, congress was set to stamp its final approval during the day on two measures salvaging a vestige of the second war powers act. The bulk of that measure dies at midnight, along with the six and one-half year old draft law.

The new bills, already approved by senate and house conference committees, were due for prompt presidential signature once they reach the White House. They provide:

An extension until Oct. 31 of sugar rationing and price control with the agriculture department taking over both chores from OPA

Emergency extension, until June 30, only, of allocation programs over tin, antimony, railroad freight cars, tractors built for export, manila and agave cordage and fiber, the drug streptomycin, and cinchona (quinine), bark; plus limited controls in foreign trade.

Will Abandon Authority

Upon signing them, the President will abandon his authority to place any other materials under priorities, rationing or allocation, even in the event of a new national crisis arising from strikes, disasters or a revived threat of war.

Control over rubber, uranium ore, housing material, exports, and construction—all formerly dependent on the second war powers act—already have been preserved under separate postwar legislation

Other programs, all administered by the civil production administration, will die at midnight They include:

Inventory controls, which prohibit the hoarding and withholding of such things as washing machines and other scarce consumer goods, the allocation of steel and resins, the export quotas imposed upon the manufacture of automobiles, textile regulations, and a few other minor orders which are all that remain of the 700 industrial controls invoked during the war.

In addition to the death of most of the allocation programs, these other shifts will occur at midnight:

1 Government purchase of natural rubber will end In eliminating the reconstruction finance corporation as the sole purchaser of foreign supplies, however, congress extended domestic controls over the use of both natural and synthetic rubber for one year In the meantime it expects to draft a national rubber policy to insure the maintenance of the synthetic rubber industry for national security, probably by making mandatory the use of a certain amount of synthetic in most rubber goods.

2. Emergency powers over truck lines and water carries will be withdrawn from the interstate commerce commission and the office of defense transportation Railroads will continue subject to freight embargoes and curtailment of operations if these again prove necessary.

3. Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon will take over from CPA the allocation of critically scarce building materials to channel them into housing. He will also enforce residential building regulations and the limitation on commercial building.

4. The control of uranium materials will pass from CPA to the atomic control commission.

5. One lingering war agency, the solid fuels administration, will pass out of existence.

6. Four inactive provisions of the second war powers act will expire but with virtually no effect. They governed among other things, the disposal of property confisticated in wartime and the activities of dollar-a-year- men, none of whom remain.

Rent control, which did not stem from the second war powers act, continues until June 30. Congress still is trying to decide what to do about extending it.

Personal Tax Penalty Goes on After Today

Today was the final day for paying 1947 personal property taxes in Marion county without penalty.

Marion County Auditor Harry V. Mounts stated his office had received payment from approximately 2,700 taxpayers to date and counting those today and those received through the mail, the figure would total about 3,200.

After today personal property tax payments are subject to a five per cent penalty, Mr. Mounts said.

Marion Man in Group Going to Greece Today

A Marion man was one of 25 members of AHEPA, national Greek-American fraternal organization, scheduled to fly from Boston, Mass., to Athens, Greece, today.

He is Thomas N. Fisher of 133 North Main street. He and 24 other members of the fraternity from all parts of the United States will select sites and break ground for two hospitals to be built in Athens and Salonika at a cost of $2,400,000. The money was raised by AHEPA.

The Trans-World Airlines four-engined Constellation will be christened "Star of AHEPA." It is scheduled to make the trip in one day. The Americans will be greeted by top Greek officials and will return to Boston May 11.

HOUSE RACES TO BAR SUGAR RATIONING END

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — Racing to prevent expiration of sugar rationing at midnight, the house today approved compromise legislation continuing sugar allocation and price control until Oct. 31.

Immediate senate action will be sought to permit the bill to go to the White House before nightfall for the President's signature

The bill stipulates that each person shall have a ration of at least 20 pounds of sugar in the next seven months. This is at the rate of a 35 pound yearly ration, or 10 pounds more than last year's ration.

Under the compromise, the OPA is stripped of further administration of the controls, and the power transferred to the department of agriculture.

The bill also sets aside 50,000 tons of sugar for new industrial users and continues inventory controls, except over household consumers, until March 31, 1948.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), chairman of the banking committee, told the house continuation of the sugar controls is necessary to protect supplies for the housewife.

The controls were extended for only seven months over vigorous protests of some lawmakers.

Senator Tobey (R-NH), contending the controls should continue for a year, predicted the short extension may bring about a "national scandal" by encouraging sugar hoarding, gambling and profiteering.

Beauty Queen Of 1929 Can't Explain Bequest of $40,000

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, March 31—Blond Ethel May Moody, one-time beauty queen, still was a bit confused today as she tried to find a reason for a $40,000 trust willed her by Harry K. Thaw, late millionaire playboy she claims she met only once.

"It was a dinner or birthday party and I don't remember if we were formally introduced. Harry K. Thaw was sitting at the table across from me. It seems to me it was one of those how-do-you-do meetings and that was all. I have never spoken to him since."

Thaw, who died at his Miami Beach home Feb. 22 at the age of 76, left Miss Moody the largest single monetary bequest in his will, even greater than that left to his ex-wife, Evelyn Nesbit, for whom he shot and killed architect Stanford White.

The 38-year-old model has real plans for use of the money whatever the reason for her getting it was.

"I'm going to begin to live now. I'll buy a lot of clothing for my children—Sonya, 12, and Harry, 8, children by a 1932 marriage—and give them luxuries they have been denied and an education.

New Auto Licenses Must Be Displayed After Midnight

After midnight tonight Marion motorists and those throughout Ohio must display 1947 license plates on the front and rear of their vehicles.

Police Chief William E. Marks said all vehicles carrying 1946 license plates must be off the streets by midnight or they will be picked up by the police department. State highway patrolmen said they would arrest drivers caught on state highways with old licenses on their vehicles.

The auto license bureau, located in the Adrey Motor Sales building at 264 North Main street was reported doing a booming business today as car owners hurried to make license plate purchases before the deadline. License sales to date total nearly 7,000.

After today the auto license bureau will maintain a regular office schedule for auto licence sales, according to W. C. Bailey, Marion deputy registrar.

Phone Contract Ends With Strike Predicted

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31 — The contract between the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its 20,000 long lines employes in 42 states expires at midnight tonight, and the union president says "it looks very much as though we'd walk out at 6 a. m., April 7, as planned."

John J. Moran, president of the American Union of Telephone Workers (Ind.), said a meeting with company negotiators last night ended in a "stalemate on both sides."

DIESEL BUS MISSING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31 — No needle in a haystack, an $18,000 44-passenger Diesel bus nevertheless has eluded police of 11 states who have sought it since Friday, when it disappeared from its usual run in the Bronx. Missing with the big red and buff bus, police said, was its driver, William Cimillo, 37.

2,000 GERMAN MINERS STRIKE

Protest Food Shortage; 4,000 Others Return to Closed Pits.

By The Associated Press

ESSEN, Germany, March 31—About 2,000 German miners struck today at Dortmund to enforce demands for increased food for their families, but 4,000 others returned to four pits that had been closed.

Some 10,000 persons including railway and wagon factory workers marched through the streets of Krefeld, on the west bank of the Rhine, waving banners protesting food shortages. A similar demonstration was planned later today in the coal center of Duisburg. A protest was cancelled at Cologne.

The coal output which reached 238,000 tons March 21 dropped to 231,000 tons March 28, or about the average of late February. Current production may be actually lower because figures had not been compiled for Saturday when the protest strikes started.

The newest mines struck at Dorthmund were the Gneisnau and Hansa.

The 4,000 strikers who returned to work today said they would walk out again tomorrow if their food demands were not met The miners said their families were getting barely two-thirds of the standard 1,550 daily calory ration established in the British and American zones.

EXTENSION OF RENT CONTROL WINS O.K.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—Legislation continuing rent controls through Feb. 29, 1948 without a blanket increase in rents was approved unanimously today by the senate banking committee.

The bill provides for:

1 Establishment of five-man local advisory boards in each rental area with authority to recommend decontrol or rent increases on an area basis.

2 Transfer of the rent program from OPA to Housing Expediter Frank Creedon Unless reversed by Creedon, recommendations submitted by local boards would go into effect automatically after 30 days.

3. Decontrol of new housing, dwellings rented for the first time, houses renting for more than $225 a month, and hotels and motor courts

4. Authority for individual states to set up their own rent control programs as soon as adequate action had been taken by state legislatures.

5. Evictions on "nuisance" grounds under state or local law, rather than OPA regulations.

Chairman Tobey (R-NH) told reporters that the committee rejected on a voice vote a motion by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) to authorize a general 10 per cent rent increase.

15 TRAINS TO BE DROPPED

PHILADELPHIA, March 31—The Pennsylvania railroad announced that 15 passenger trains will be dropped from its schedules April 27 because they are losing propositions. All operate in eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland.

CALLS FIXED POSITION BASIS BAR TO UNITY

Blunt Speech Warns Soviets Meeting of Minds Necessary.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 31—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, in his bluntest speech of the conference, denounced Soviet Russia today for delivering "an ultimatum" to the foreign ministers council.

"Unless we can have a real meeting of minds and a real desire to carry out both the spirit and letter of our agreements it would be better if none were reached," the secretary of state declared.

"We can never reach real agreement on the basis of ultimatum or immovable positions," Marshall declared in commenting on the Soviet position that unless Russia received reparations from current German production no settlements could be reached.

He spoke just after the British had circulated a proposal by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to the council for the unification of Germany by July 1, this year, a unification which he said should be made effective by abolishing all restrictions on movement of goods between the zones.

Maintenance Costs First

This proposal, obviously unacceptable to the Russians, provided that before any reparations could be paid the Germans would have to pay back sums advanced for Germany's maintenance by the occupying powers and meet the cost of occupation.

At the same time that he commented on Russia's stand-pat position, Marshall criticised the French also for adopting the immovable attitude that they must have coal from the Ruhr or they would agree to nothing.

"It is not clear that the conflict inherent in these views can be reconciled, whatever position the United States may take," Marshall said.

"The Soviet delegation has suggested that it will be possible for the French to have their coal and still leave enough coal in Germany to manufacture the reparations the Soviet government demands," Marshall continued. "We do not agree.

Disagree With French

"The French delegation believes that after it has obtained the coal it needs from Germany and has limited the (German) steel capacity to 7,500,000 tons it is still worth while to study the question of reparations out of current production. We do not agree."

He charged that the Russian proposal to reduce German imports in order to get reparations for Russia would reduce German food consumption to a starvation diet of 1,100 calories a day

"Does the Soviet government make this proposal seriously?" he asked.

"The United States is opposed to policies which will continue Germany as a congested slum or an economic poor house in the center of Europe."

Bevin's comprehensive 10-page proposal, in the form of an order of the council, would supplement and where necessary revise the Potsdam agreement.

However, the proposal, which became available for publication while the council still was in session, obviously will be unacceptable to the Russians in its main provisions, both economic and political. Among other things it would have the effect of prohibiting immediate reparations from current German production, as the Russians demand, and it calls for a federalized form of government which the Russians oppose.

Second Phase of Occupation

The plan was described in its text as a design for a directive to the Allied control council in Berlin for the second phase of the occupation.

Highly placed informants predicted before the meeting that Secretary of State Marshall would reject Russian demands that the Soviet Union have absolute assurance of current reparations from Germany as a price for any agreement on German economic unity.

While the United States is ready to consider requests for reparations from current German production along with other issues, these sources said, Marshall is not willing to deal with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on the basis of a "virtual ultimatum."

In addition to calling for Germany to be made self-sufficient, the Bevin plan provides for repayment of sums advanced to Germany by the controlling powers.

"Repayment of sums advanced by the controlling powers on ac-

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

WRITES MR. ROBERT JORDAN, COLON, MICH.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kind of remedies for his sciatic neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at Henney & [illegible] and All Drug Stores.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money [illegible] guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.

SEES DEATH OF CURB ON LABOR

Green Predicts Sen. Ball's Anti-Closed Shop Bill Will Die.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 — William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, says he doubts that the bill of Senator Ball (R-Minn) to ban the closed shop "will ever get out of committee."

In a speech before 2,100 delegates attending a special legislative conference of the Ohio State Federation of Labor here yesterday, Green denounced the measure and declared it already "is defeated in the congress of the United States."

"I know this — and I know it definitely," Green asserted, "there is no power on earth that can make a union coal miner work with a non-union coal miner against his will. And who is going to compel a union printer to work with a non-union printer?"

Calls Attacks Unjust

"I would like to know," he said "what labor has ever done that justifies these anti-labor activities on the part of the law-making people of this nation."

Green lauded the United Mine Workers for its announced mourning period for miners killed in the Centralia, Ill., explosion and asked his audience to join in the week of mourning "in spirit is not in action."

Other speakers who denounced what they termed anti-labor measures in congress and the Ohio legislature included Phil Hannah, assistant secretary of labor, Michael Lyden, president of the Ohio federation and John Owens of the United Mine Workers.

A declaration of principles adopted by the conference stated, "We stand four-square for democracy, and we steadfastly oppose every form of totalitarianism, whether it be labeled Communism or Fascism."

Makes Several Demands

The conference called on lawmakers to

"In the name of common American sense, stop the hysterical attacks on bona fide unions organizations composed of [illegible] working men and women. * * *

"Encourage business leaders to grant wage increases to help the worker and his family to meet excessive living costs. * * *

"Take immediate action to stop rising living expenses. * * *

"Continue present rent controls another year, or until the housing crisis is over.

"Throw government resources behind a move to end the housing shortage. Real estate interests are not solving the problem. The houses which are being built are too costly for workers to afford. * * *

"Broaden the social security program to include agricultural workers, domestic workers, government and non-profit institution employes, and self-employed and small employers. * * *

"Raise federal minimum wage standards to 75 cents per hour. * * *

WALDO EASTER SERVICES

At a recent meeting of representatives from three Waldo churches, it was planned to have a union sunrise service Easter morning at the Evangelical and Reformed church. Other churches of the community taking part are the Methodist church and St Paul Lutheran church. The service will be sponsored by the young people of the congregation. Chosen to present the Easter story and message was D. T. Mills, superintendent of county schools. There will be music by the Waldo High school Girls' Glee club and by the mixed chorus of the school, and other features will be presented. Music will be directed by Mrs. Robert Rice. Time of the service has been set at 6:30 a. m. The planning meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Mack.

Social Affairs

THE home of the bride's mother was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Georgia Joanna Kraner, daughter of Mrs. H. G. Kraner of 254 South Greenwood street, and James E. Strickland, son of Mrs. Elizabeth V. Strickland of Portsmouth, Va. The couple repeated their vows at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before an altar placed in front of a large bay window which was decorated with a bouquet of red roses and banked with palms. At either side of the altar was a bouquet of white gladioli and white candles in seven-branch candelabra. Throughout the room were bouquets of sweet peas. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. W. B. Smith, pastor of the rural Salem Evangelical United Brethren church.

A half-hour program of nuptial music was presented preceding the ceremony. Miss Dorothy Romoser at the piano played "Night and Day," Porter, "Ave Maria," Gounod, and the traditional wedding marches. Selections by Miss Dorothy Gee Stephenson, vocalist, were "The Rosary," Nevin, "Always," Berlin, "All For You," Brown and "I Bring A Love Song," Romberg. During the ceremony, Miss Romoser played "I Love You Truly" by Bond and at the close of the ceremony, Miss Stephenson sang "O, Precious Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Guy B. Pisner of Kirkpatrick, was attired in a two-piece street length dress of white rough crepe. The jacket, with a high round neckline and short sleeves, was topped with a quilted bodice ornamented with tiny crystal beaded motifs and it fastened in front with small seeded buttons. She wore three-quarter length white gloves trimmed with white maline which ended in points over the hands. Her waist-length veil was caught with a white crepe tiara outlined with crystal beads, and she carried a bouquet of white camellias.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Inez M. Kraner. She wore an aqua colored crepe dress with short sleeves, high neckline and a tiered skirt buttoning down the back with glass buttons. Her gloves were three-quarter length and matched a rose flowered hat. Her bouquet was of variegated pink camellias. Miss Patricia Kraner, sister of the bride, lighted the candles. Her two-piece dress was of dark brown faille fashioned with a tailored waist and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt was accented with draped pockets. Her flowers were yellow daffodils and purple iris.

Clifford B. Strine served as best man. Master Max Lee Strine, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and carried the rings in a large calla lily.

Receiving the guests at the door was Miss Ruth Zulauf and seating them was Miss Rosaline Manzo, sorority sisters of the bride. They were attired in black and each wore a corsage of roses and sweet-peas. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kraner chose a blue crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of dark red and rose carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held for 60 close friends and relatives. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake placed on a large round mirror. A miniature bride and bridegroom topped the cake, and it was encircled with white carnations and fern. On either side were white candles. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Henry Gilmore of Fostoria and Miss Ruth Craven.

MRS. JAMES E. STRICKLAND

When the couple left on a wedding trip through the south, Mrs. Strickland was wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and a short red topper. After April 7, they will be at home at 120 Fourth street in Portsmouth, Va.

The bride was graduated from Claridon High school and the Marion Business college. Prior to her marriage she was employed on the office staff of the Standard Oil Co. here. She is a member of Beta Gamma chapter, Lambda Chi Omega. Mr. Strickland is a veteran of World War II, serving two and one-half years in the Army, a part of which was in Berlin. He is an electrical contractor. Mr. Strine was host for his bachelor party at his home east of Marion Friday evening.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilmore of Fostoria, Mrs. Antonette Grau and Mrs. Florence Balliett of Bucyrus, Miss Beatrice South and Miss Mary Sheldon of Columbus.

MEMBERS of the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital will meet Wednesday at Greenwood Inn. Luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will be followed by a business session and sewing. Hostesses will be Mrs. Harold Alexander, Mrs. Francis J. Hurst and Mrs. H. B. Hane.

Mrs. Helen Viger of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Mary Alice Boyd were guests when the Three Arts club met Tuesday at the Federation Home. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Charles Baber and Mrs. Grace Ulsh. Plans were discussed for Fine Arts Day and Mrs. Frank Fields was chosen delegate to attend a convention in Columbus in May. A book review was presented by Mrs. Clarence Weber. The next meeting will be a dinner Tuesday evening, April 8, at Hotel Harding.

An original humorous program was presented at the last social event of the season for the Lecture-Recital club chorus at Republican headquarters Thursday night. Supper preceded the program and was served at small tables throughout the room. Favors were tiny gumdrop "candlesticks" holding miniature candles of pastel colors.

The program was a simulated performance of a group of "outstanding concert, opera and radio artists" of appropriate names, who were in costumes in keeping with the humorous tone of the whole. Taking part in a "repertoire of solo, duet, and trio numbers and poems" were Miss Sophie Mack, Miss Rosaline Manzo, Mrs. Clara Campbell, Mrs. Ralph Hancock, Mrs. George Coons, Mrs. Lewis Wills, Mrs. William Thomas, Miss Elizabeth Edgar, Miss Phyllis Runl and Mrs. George Griffith.

Miss Edgar, director of the chorus, was presented a gift of money for her trip to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music clubs in Detroit in April. She was selected previously to represent the Lecture-Recital club in a massed chorus which will sing at the convention. Short talks were by Mrs. Carter Patton, new president, Mrs. Thomas, outgoing president, and Miss Doris Emptage, financial chairman. Letters commending work of the chorus and praising the concert presented to the public recently by the chorus were read by Miss Edgar. Announcement was made of the final social event of the Lecture-Recital club April 7 at the home of Mrs. Warren Wise.

On the social committee were Mrs. Ione Lane, Mrs. Paul Kyle, Mrs. Nola Wylie, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Arthur Amick, and Mrs. Thomas. The program was in charge of Miss Mack and Mrs. Thomas.

When the Homemakers Study club met last week in the home of Mrs. Wallace Patten of 424 Reed avenue, a "beauty clinic" was conducted by Mrs. Violet Cook of Lima. Mrs. Bashford Howser of Lima was a guest. Prizes in contests went to Mrs. Russell Gillson and Mrs. Erma Myers. Mrs. Charles Smith assisted in serving.

LEGUME RESEARCH SET UP AT O.S.U.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—A new research project designed to seek new ways for the improvement of legume seed—clovers and alfalfa—will be set up in Columbus, John F. Cunningham, dean of the Ohio State university college of agriculture, announced today.

The project will be the only one of its kind in a humid climate, Dean Cunningham said.

The laboratory will be established in a building off the university campus, Dean Cunningham said, and the staff at the start will consist of seven scientists and a corps of clerical assistants.

During the past third of a century, Dean Cunningham explained, there has been a steady decline in the yields of legume seeds domestically, while imported seed has not proved as efficient as that developed under home conditions of climate and other factors.

The research scientists will attempt to determine how various conditions such as weather, climate, soil and insects affect seed production.

The busy little bee will play a part in the research work, since legumes depend for their development upon pollination by insects.

One result, the scientists hope, may be the development of a strain of bees which can do two jobs—perform more efficiently in the pollination department, and at the same time produce a better grade of honey for the nation's sweet tooth.

Five Hurt in Traffic Crash Near Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, March 31 — Five persons were injured Saturday in an automobile accident west of Crestline on Route 30-N. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Crestline were returning from Bucyrus and Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Cole and son and daughter of near Crestline going west enroute home. The cars collided head-on when Mr. Cole attempted to pass a tractor. Entering the Emergency hospital for treatment for lacerations, bruises and nervous shock were Mr. and Mrs. Cole and daughter Mable and Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

APRIL 7 DEADLINE FOR REGISTRATION

Between 14,000 and 15,000 Now Eligible for Primary.

Marion's registration for the May primary elections now stands at between 14,000 and 15,000 with April 7 as the deadline for registrations and transfers of Marion voters, the Marion county board of elections reported today.

Between 10 and 20 persons are visiting the election board office daily to register or transfer for the May 6 primaries, according to Mrs. Nora Fetter, deputy clerk. She predicted next week's registrations and transfers would boost the total city registration by several hundred.

The election board office will be open until 9 p. m. on April 4, 5 and 7 to enable residents to register and transfer before the deadline. Regular hours of the office are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Persons who must register are those who have not voted in an election within the last two years, those who have moved into the city and those who will become 21 years old before the November elections. Transfers are necessary for persons who have moved from one precinct to another.

Apr. 7 also is the date on which persons who expect to be more than 50 miles from their voting precincts on primary election day may begin casting absentee ballots.

Potluck Dinner Held By Club in Prospect

Special to The Star

PROSPECT—The Past Time club met for a potluck dinner at noon Wednesday with Mrs. J. E. Bricker. The afternoon was spent socially. Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Paul Kyle and Mrs. Tom Finefrock. Next meeting will be the third Wednesday of April at the home of Mrs. Paul Kyle of 147 Carhart street, Marion.

Fire Prevention Aim of Committee Campaign Here

The fire prevention committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, headed by Robert Scott, today announced plans for conducting a fire prevention campaign in an effort to reduce losses from fires in this community. Each week the committee will prepare a short discussion on fire hazards and means of controlling them for publication in The Star.

As a general rule they will be based on causes of fire losses reported in Marion in the previous week. This week the discussion deals with inflammable liquids.

During the past week Marion firemen were called out on a case involving the spilling of gasoline. Most factories have provided instruction to their employes who handle inflammable liquids. However, during the next few weeks—housecleaning time—many housewives will handle inflammable and explosive liquids, Mr. Scott pointed out. They should be warned about the dangerous position in which they may place themselves as well as their loved ones, he said.

If at all possible he advised using a non-inflammable or non-explosive solution for cleaning. If unable to do this every effort should be made to exercise precautions necessary to safeguard home and family. Find out from the seller how to use the dangerous substance and act accordingly, was his final warning.

MILLER FUNERAL TUESDAY

ASHLEY, March 31 — Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Miller, 71, who died at her home in Westfield township Saturday, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. H. L. Borden of Westfield Methodist church will officiate and burial will be made in Marlboro cemetery near here. Friends may call at the residence.

Luncheon Given For Farm Women's Club

The Pleasant Farm Women's club was entertained by Mrs. Gail Smith with dessert luncheon Thursday at the Country Cottage on the Delaware road south. Members were seated around a long table centered with pastel shade candles and dishes of miniature candy eggs. Place favors were crepe paper tulips in pastel shades filled with nuts.

A meeting in the afternoon was opened by the president, Mrs. Ralph Hager and the Lord's prayer was said in unison. Devotions were by Mrs. Frank Eberl. Mrs. Grover Lichtenberger was in charge of a program. She read "The Deserted" and Mrs. L. E. Mautz read "Life of the United States." An Irish monolog was given by Mrs. F. M. Warner. In contests honors went to Mrs. C. C. Seiter and Mrs. Jacob Bolinger. Mrs. William Morganthaler was enrolled. Guests were Mrs. Wilbur Burke and daughter Jane, and Mrs. Seiter. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. Mautz and Mrs. E. Duprey.

ccurs in many parts of A fairly common lo- cancer is on the face, y about the nose and men know most of cancers as basal cell mas Quite fortunately of cancer differs from that it does not metasta- means that the tumor not carried by the blood to other parts of the et up new growths in inaccessible places as is the case with so many other types of cancer. In other words, a skin cancer is most likely to be a local disturbance, which with proper treatment can readily be done away with.

Everybody should realize that these skin cancers grow slowly, so it is wise not to disregard a dangerous growth simply because it seems at the time to be making no particular trouble. Some such cancers may even take years to reach a size from one-half to an inch across.

The growth usually begins on a reddened, scaly spot which becomes a little thickened and shiny The thickening may be so slight that it is barely noticeable The central part of the growth becomes covered with crust and when it is knocked off or pulled off there is some bleeding Then a new crust forms

There is another form of this tumor called a rodent ulcer. It is a destructive growth which occurs mostly about the eyes, ears or nose. If allowed to continue this may destroy large areas of tissue.

While skin cancers are not as dangerous as many other types of tumors, they nevertheless should be promptly diagnosed and treated because they can mar the appearance to a great extent However, in treating skin cancers two main ideas must be kept in mind First to destroy the growth itself completely and, second, to keep from damaging the surrounding tissues.

According to Dr Jerome P Webster of New York the two main methods of treatment are X-ray and surgical removal. The type of treatment to be used will depend upon the location of the growth and its extent. For example, if the growth is on the end of the nose, cutting off the growth might cause some deformity. Hence, X-ray treatment would, as a rule, be better.

On the other hand, if the tumor is located on the ear, X-ray treatment may cause inflammation of the ear cartilage which is painful and difficult to heal. Many of the skin cancers may be eliminated completely with X-ray treatment without noticeable scarring In cases which do not respond to the X-ray, surgical removal is employed

Whenever a person has a sore which does not seem to be healing the doctor should be seen without delay. Rest assured he will make an immediate examination to determine definitely if the sore is a skin cancer and proceed to treat it accordingly.

Pre-Easter Services For Pupils Closed

Central Christian church was well filled Friday morning for the final service of the pre-Easter series sponsored by the Hi-Y and Y-Teen clubs of Harding High school. Attendance this year at all the services which were held Tuesday through Friday mornings, was reported good, considering the amount of illness which kept some pupils away Members of the two sponsoring organizations took part in the programs, assisted by interested adults Theme of the series was "Finding God"

Yesterday morning, Rev R W. Faulkner pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, spoke on 'Finding God Through Prayer, and a special number was a solo. 'Lord's Prayer," by Patricia Dearing, accompanied by Mrs J F Lacey Mrs Virgil Curl was organist for the services, and Miss Betty Morse and Miss Pauline Oiler were co-chairman in charge

Citrus Grove Campus Most Unusual in U. S.

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

Hal Boyle

LAKELAND Fla —A 60-year-old college president who never saw the inside of a schoolroom of any kind until he was 18 is building the most unusual campus in America.

The Florida Southern college which Dr Ludd M Spivey has directed since 1925 already was noteworthy because it had the only citrus grove campus and imported Hindu temple in the country.

Under construction now is a 19-building development designed by the famous architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, in an ultra-modernistic style peculiar to Wright himself. Typical examples a chapel without crosses or lights, a semi-circular library that has an inside garden, skylights and can double as an auditorium or music room.

The buildings are of yellow-colored concrete coquina shell blocks—made by student labor—glass bricks and steel. They will be linked by a mile-and-a-half esplanade or covered sidewalk of unique design No feature of the architecture resembles the traditional gothic or sandstone and red brick horrors beloved on many campuses.

Opinions Vary on Buildings

Some students and visitors are crazy over the buildings. More conservative ones just say, "the buildings are crazy."

Dr Spivey enjoys the controversy, is content with the knowledge his Methodist college will bear the distinction of having the largest group of Wright-designed constructures extant

"They illustrate Mr Wright's belief that buildings should harmonize with their surroundings, should seem to flow out of their surroundings," he said And even in their present incomplete stage there is a distinct feeling of Florida's sand and mellow sunlight about them.

As unusual as the buildings is Dr Spivey himself, a farmboy-preacher-educator who never attended school of any kind until he was 18 and received his college degree at 34

Arrived 22 Years Ago

Twenty-two years ago he came here to head a small debt-ridden college of 129 students and two buildings Now Florida Southern has 1 600 students and at the end of its present two-year construction program will own 45 buildings.

A fund-raiser able to talk bequests out a stone Indian, Dr Spivey has obtained financial support from all classes. One of the college's chief benefactors is Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, a former student.

Dr Spivey wants to keep his college reasonably small — no more than 2,500 students—because he thinks small colleges have an advantage over universities of huge enrollment.

"They produce more leaders because each student has more chance to share and take an active part in the group social life," he said. "Fifty years ago small colleges had 75 per cent of the enrollment and produced 75 per cent of the country's leaders. Now they only have 25 per cent of the enrollment— the larger universities get most—but they still produce 65 to 75 per cent of the leaders."

Strongly Social Minded

Dr. Spivey, a disciple of John Dewey, is strongly social minded.

"I believe in a human college not in an ivory tower," he said, "a college where science provides the tools and where education and religion point the way."

A feature of the campus is its "Garden of Meditation" containing a ten-ton Hindu temple brought 15,000 miles from Benares by Dr Frederick B Fisher, a former missionary bishop in India. Noteworthy also are the hundreds of orange and grapefruit trees scattered throughout the 80-acre campus Last year they produced 5,000 boxes

"No, the students didn't pick them— they ate them," said Dr. Spivey.

A friend summed up the white-haired educator's remarkable career

"He's been shaking the bushes all these years and now his work is bearing fruit"

Is Union Co. Chairman

MARYSVILLE — George Carney,, local businessman, has been named chairman of the drive in Union county to raise funds for crippled children. The Union County Society for Crippled Children, of which Mr Carney is president, will hold a tag day and sell Easter seals as a part of the drive to raise the money.

Diamond mining first became an industry in India sometime between 800 and 600 B.C.

Jesse H. Mason

JESSE H. MASON, whose sudden death Saturday shocked the city of Canton, where he had served as school superintendent more than 18 years, won recognition as an outstanding school administrator in several Ohio communities, including Marion. His five-year record here will always stand as one of the most notable periods of achievement in the history of this city's school system.

His devotion, coupled with native ability as an educator and administrator, already had made him outstanding in 1928, when he left Marion to take over duties of the superintendency at Canton. He continued to grow with experience and became, during his years in Canton, one of the best qualified public school superintendents in the United States.

He left Marion because what he wanted and what he unquestionably received in Canton was a larger opportunity to administer school affairs and to make a contribution to the welfare of children. Children were his driving interest throughout an exceptionally useful life.

Along with the mark of distinction in Marion's community record credited to Mr. Mason as a school administrator, he will be remembered for activities in numerous civic programs and campaigns which contributed much to public welfare and progress.

A man of unusual personal charm and sincerity, he won community-wide popularity and among his warmest friends were the school children. He made it his business to become personally acquainted with as many of them as possible.

Few men are able to make themselves as useful as Jesse Mason did during 38 busy years in the profession of teaching.

Tribute to Two "Veterans"

THE CLOSING of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and Fort Hayes at Columbus will make many a war veteran and many a member of the pre-war Army think back on the days spent at those posts.

As headquarters of the old Fifth Corps Area and home of the 10th Infantry Regiment, the peace-time Fort Hayes was a quiet island surrounded by the bustling city of Columbus. In the war years, expedience necessitated sacrificing the tidy geometrical layout of buildings as temporary barracks and warehouses utilized all available space. Within the army the Fort Hayes quartermaster depot was regarded as a model.

At Fort Harrison, in the pleasant rolling country north of Indianapolis, many an Ohio boy spent his first night away from home, heard reveille blown for the first time, felt the first thrill of pride as he stood at attention while the bugler sounded "To the Colors," and for the first time was subjected to the tender ministrations of the Army sergeant.

In the war years Fort Harrison was a reception center and home of a finance school and general hospital, but in peace it was headquarters of the 11th Infantry Regiment, great rival of Fort Hayes' 10th. Hundreds of Ohio men who were in their late 'teens in the '20's and '30's will never forget the months they spent with "the old Army" at Fort Harrison when it was host to the Summer Citizens Military Training Camps.

Fort Hayes and Fort Harrison may go, but they will not be forgotten.

The Presidential Succession

WITH the favorable report by the senate rules committee on the bill to make the house speaker first in line to succeed President Truman, the measure is due for probable passage in the near future. It passed the house by a wide margin at the last session but was killed by the senate, which held out to have its own president pro tempore take precedence over the speaker in the line of succession.

The senate committee now agrees that the speaker, by virtue of his election at two-year intervals, would come closer to being the popular choice than a senator elected for six years. So the senate's presiding officer comes next after the speaker.

The bill was opposed by all Democrats on the committee, and the senate vote is expected to be along party lines, yet the plan is substantially the one recommended by President Truman in a message to congress in June, 1945. He pointed out that he would be able to name his own successor through appointment of a secretary of state, and he declared that such power should not rest with any president.

The Democrats' objection to the bill is based on partisan interest; regardless of which party is in power, it is the only fair way to designate a president in the absence of a vice president. The nation is fortunate that in the year when the secretary of state stood third in line of succession there never arose an occasion by which an added starter could have been sneaked into the White House on a fast, under-the-table shuffle. It would have been the Herman Talmadge case multiplied by 48.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Scolding Will Hardly Bring Prices Down.

OUR TOWN, USA, March 31—The trouble with Mr. Truman is he never has to go out to buy anything. He just sits there and reads his own statistics. He and his treasury secretary Mr. Snyder talk about prices as a delinquent parent would admonish his errant son, casually and nominally.

Listen:

This very morning I tried to hire a man to clean up dead logs on our place for firewood. He wanted $1.25 per hour. I told him the work was needed; I had the money to pay for it, but the logs will be there until he wants that kind of work at a reasonable fee.

The other day I paid $1 for a soupbone. It was a good one, but not much better than the one I bought for 15 cents when I was a child. It contained plenty of meat, and cooked up well, but it cost $1. For three keys, I paid $5.50. Keys formerly cost a quarter apiece, but the keymaker explained he had to have portal to portal pay, the portal being the door of his office, and he figured all the time he used leaving and returning to same. The widow next door, who lives on fixed income, paid $12 to have three rugs taken to Washington, which is about seven miles away as the crow flies to the Washington monument, if he is in a flying humor and wishes to go in that direction. You could go in a taxi for one-sixth of that!

Quick Action

The day the price of wheat started soaring on the Chicago exchange, the bakery near our town increased the price of bread 4 cents. The Chicago wheat price could not have affected that bakery for some months. But they did not wish to take any chances of forgetting it, apparently. They acted the day after Mr. Truman said he would help Greece.

The weaver wanted $5 to mend an eighth of an inch hole in my shirt. An upholsterer who is fixing our sofa (sometime in the next six months or so) had a helper who fixed sofas but he quit after two days of work, soaking said upholsterer $25 a day for his labors. The upholsterer had to go back and re-mend the sofa the helper had fixed.

A laundress here says it is customary for laundresses to receive $5 for 7 hours work, no more, and every hour spent over 7 must be paid for at the rate of 85 cents an hour. Apparently laundresses now get $25 base pay for a five day week—and up, mostly up.

A friend of mine who enjoys whisky (I never touch it myself) says he paid $7.90 in a cut rate store for a pint of a blend which formerly sold for $3 plus some odd cents. Why, even manure is getting out of sight! I advertised for some cow for my roses. I did not get an answer from two days of ads, but I did get an offer from a fellow who had a horse. He promised me horse manure at $20.50 per ton. Formerly it cost $12.

On The Other Hand

This, of course, is a onesided picture. It is my side, the consumer's. If you foolishly suspect all this may be cured by another price or wage increase, just listen further to the other side:

The business of the hotel in our own is off 25 per cent. One-fourth fewer travelers are going through. The head of the department store, a small one in our town, is a good friend of mine, as is the hotel manager. The retail man had worried himself into an ulcer because he has loaded up with shoes supposed to retail at $25 a pair. No one will buy them.

And frankly, he says he does not see why anyone should pay $20 for a pair of shoes. What should he do? Cut prices and lose money? That would only get him another ulcer. Try to sell shoes for $20 a pair? That would get him two ulcers.

In the same block in which my office moves its hectic way in Washington are four large old houses completely for rent. A year ago you could not get an office on the street for twice what it was worth. Parking my car costs 30 cents now where it formerly cost 20 cents.

These are the things which count, Mr. President, not the price of artichokes! My salary has not been raised in 10 years, but I am supposed to meet this tremendously increased, if not wild and fantastic bill for living. So are all the people. Why, my plumber has had such poor workmanship in help that he must go out on all jobs himself! But don't get me started on that!

Plans for Future

We have great dreams in our town, magnificent dreams. We are going to build a $12 million apartment house across the street on the marshes which flank the Potomac. They will probably never find a base for their basements in the water, but someone is throwing away $12 million in expectation that they will. Senator Byrd wants a million federal employes dismissed; another senator wants to get rid of 750,000 and frankly I could dispense with all of them. Good builders are planning apartment projects much nearer town. And to top it all, surveys show Washington is overbuilt. When the wartime inhabitants are cleaned out we already have too much housing in the vast projects rather recently built here. Frankly I am going to join Mr. Truman and say those naughty, naughty prices should not go up or maybe you will get another wage increase and inflation.

What does he think this is! Twenty dollars and fifty cents for a ton of horse manure!

Every Day a Holiday for Government Workers?

A house judiciary subcommittee is considering measures officially to proclaim 16 additional annual holidays.

At that rate, calendar makers soon will be using more red ink than the budget bureau.

One had thought holiday inflation had passed its peak with the demise of the double-header Thanksgiving.

Such, however, is not the case. Sixteen new holidays are already in the offing and the ingenuity of the Brotherhood of Bank Clerks knows no bounds.

The government may know what it's doing, creating all these holidays. But it seems to me it may very well be scuttling the postoffice department. Already the corner drug store is doing the bulk of the nation's stamp business.

In fact, a great many federal agencies might beware lest people suddenly begin to ask: "If we can get along without them half the time, what's the need of having them at all?"

Turkey's Hot Spot

MORE than in Greece, the policies of Soviet Russia and the western powers are at variance with regard to Turkey. In his message to Congress March 12, President Truman said: "The future of an independent Turkey as an independent and economically sound state is clearly no less important to the freedom-loving peoples of the world than the future of Greece."

On the other hand, Russia has seen to it that contiguous states in western and southern Europe are subservient (Soviet diplomats prefer the word 'friendly'). Only Turkey has been able to resist the extension of this Soviet sphere of influence — and Turkey controls the Dardanelles.

After World War I Russia and Turkey became firm friends. Russia participated in the Montreux negotiations which gave control of the Dardanelles to Turkey. However, during World War II Russia complained bitterly because Turkey remained on friendly terms with Germany until it was obvious that the Nazis were losing.

Subsequent evidences of Turkish friendship toward Russia were coolly received and in November, 1945, Russia gave the requisite six-month notice terminating the non-aggression treaty signed in 1925 and renewed in 1935. In 1945 Russia claimed certain Turkish border territories and in August, 1946, Moscow demanded that the Dardanelles be controlled solely by the Black Sea powers.

There the situation rests at present, with Russia's demands unmet and with Russia unimpressed by the United States offer to revise the Montreux agreement so that warships of non-Black Sea powers would be denied access to the Dardanelles, except with UN authority.

Credit for Life Saving

THE mortality rate from wounds among the combatant forces of the United States Army in World War II was less than three per cent, or well under one-half of that in World War I, variously estimated from seven to 10 per cent.

"These truly remarkable results," says an editorial in The Journal of the American Medical Association, "are usually attributed to recent scientific advances, such as the antibiotics ("miracle drugs"), blood banks, blood transfusions and blood substitutes—plasma or serum albumin — and the use of new narcotics and anesthetics.

"The credit should actually be given to factors which made these discoveries and their application possible, namely, the gradual growth of medical knowledge and expertness, largely unnoticed and unheralded.

"What is little appreciated is that the medical progress accomplished by American medicine in the interim between the two world wars is to a great extent due to standardization of medical schools by the American Medical association and the standardization of hospitals by the American Medical association and the American College of Surgeons, resulting in the highest type of training for medical students and interns."

The editorial points out that there were relatively few men of pre-eminent ability in surgery and its specialities in the former war, whereas there were at the beginning of this war literally thousands of well trained, capable surgeons in this country, many of whom were already members of the reserve corps of the Army and Navy.

Anglo—U. S. Understanding?

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON, March 31—In the near future, a serious effort is likely to be made to reach a more detailed understanding with Great Britain on joint world policy. There is still considerable uncertainty as to how the job should be done—on what level the discussions ought to be held; whether they should be formal or informal; and whether the result sought should be an unwritten agreement or something more precise. Probably the same points are being talked over in Moscow by Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

But the procedural problem has little importance beside the main fact, that the need for a clear Anglo-American understanding of same sort is now generally acknowledged. This means acknowledgement by the American administration of this country's working partnership with Britain. There could be no more dramatic measure of the distance that has been traveled in American foreign policy in the space of a few short weeks.

If one considers the matter calmly, realization of the need for an Anglo-American understanding really had to result from the brusque awakening of the Greco-Turkish crisis. But after the post-war period of political sleep-walking, the development still comes as something of a shock. Eighteen months ago, it was the British government that wanted such an understanding. It was from London that messages came urging that the combined chiefs of staff be placed upon a permanent basis. It was in London that you could find general agreement on the essential importance of sensible, practical sharing of world responsibilities between this country and Britain.

On Other Foot Now

At that time, however, American policy-making was still influenced by the concept that "good will" and other non-material factors could affect the Kremlin's grim, hard-headed pursuit of its grim, hard-headed objectives. It was feared that an Anglo-American understanding would arouse suspicion in Moscow and opposition here. Action was limited, therefore, to the usual quarter-measures, such as the plan for arms standardization between the British and American services. And now the shoe is rath on the other foot. The British government is now being influenced by their extreme left-wing's strong belief in the same anthropomorphic concept of international relations which formerly confused American policy. Those who favor an Anglo - American understanding, like Bevin and Prime Minister Attlee, will almost certainly prevail in the end. But the task will be much less easy.

The reports from Palestine which have recently been appearing in this space give reasons enough why the old system of Anglo-American cooperation has ceased to be sufficient. Automatic or instinctive parallel action by London and Washington was good enough in the past. But it is not good enough when this country and Britain are working together to shore up such an economically difficult, politically complex and generally explosive situation as that in the Middle East.

Our money will be wasted in Greece and Turkey if the Middle-Eastern situation goes sour in Iran or Iraq or Syria or Trans-jordan or somewhere else. There are certain areas where American influence is already greater than Britain's, as in Iran. There are others where we have not penetrated. We cannot do the whole job. Neither can the British. Furthermore, the whole picture is being transformed by a broad-scale British strategic withdrawal according to a British general staff plan. This plan ultimately locates the main British base in East Africa with forward bases only in Transjordan and Iraq.

Partnership Essential

Under the circumstances, a plan of joint action is obviously imperative. The thorny Palestine problem must be settled. (It is privately admitted here that the British Cabinet's reference of Palestine to the United Nations demands a decision from us just as plainly, although not quite so urgently, as the British decision to withdraw from Greece.) Programs must be concerted for bringing economic and political stability to the whole Mid-Eastern area. And for these also the responsibility must be in common. In Iraq, for example, this country can provide the funds and technical assistance to restore the irrigation system destroyed by the grandson of Genghis Khan and thus multiply the country's productivity almost five fold. But political arrangements will be needed to prevent the benefits of this great scheme from being monopolized by a handful of feudal land-owners. And these arrangements must be made by Britain as the predominant influence in Iraq feudal life.

Standing in Lines To Get Divorces

By The Associated Press

LONDON—Probably the most pompous queue in London is the daily one at the Royal Courts of Justice, where bewigged barristers, overworked solicitors and their harassed, morning - coated clerks stand in line to find out when their clients' divorce cases are likely to come up.

Of the 35,000 divorce cases filed last year—and a higher figure is expected this year—5,600 were heard in the last eight weeks. Undefended divorce petitions are going through on a time schedule of ten minutes a case, or 140 cases a day.

This speed is a headache to jovial, 48-year-old Cornishman, J. L. Truscott, who as clerk of the rules has the job of making up the lists.

Heckled by solicitors who want to put cases forward or back, Truscott still keeps his temper, though he lost his voice and his little white traditional starched bib is somewhat awry.

Pleasantly he answers each query, insisting however that poor persons' divorces don't get pushed to the end of the list.

The Once Over

The Laughless Musical Show

It strikes this department that it would be perfectly appropriate (and a darned good idea too), if at most musical shows today the theater displayed "No Laughing" signs.

A giggle seems to cause resentment at the modern musical and a hearty guffaw might even cause ejection by the management.

What's become of the old-fashioned idea that a musical show must have laughs and that at least one top-notch comedian is an absolute necessity?

What's come over the writers and producers of musicals anyhow? Once a guaranty of merriment and an assurance of a jaunty evening in the theater, eight out of ten musicals are without comedians. The authors do not even include roles for them!

There was a time when the first question a producer asked of a man with a musical comedy was "Has it got plenty of laughs?" He might be a little careless about the story as a whole and even skimp on tunes, but there had to be a good part for a good comedian. Up to a few years ago the billboards and the papers proclaimed the name of the funny man in type as big as that of the show.

* * *

It was the comedian who packed 'em in as much as the musical itself. There was magic in the names of Al Jolson, Ed Wynn, Eddie Cantor, Raymond Hitchcock, Lew Fields, Eddie Foy, DeWolf Hopper and scores of other great entertainers.

You anticipated the opening for weeks and you told and retold the jokes and the funny business for weeks after. A musical show was a riot, a grand jamboree, a memorable night in the theater. A customer might forget the name of the show but he always remembered the comedian.

Now a book with any laughs in it is a novelty. To find a part for Bobby Clark, one of the greatest clowns in stage history, they have to put on revivals.

"Oklahoma," admittedly one of the most tuneful shows and greatest hits in years, isn't much on laughs. "Carousel" is wowless. The composite face of those in the audience at musicals like "Bloomer Girl" is that of a man in a morgue. "Street Scene" is beautifully done and is packing 'em in, but if a comedian strayed onto the stage he would be caught in the gunfire or run over by the ambulance men and homicide squads.

It wouldn't surprise us to see Broadway announcing a super musical any day written around Poe's "The Raven," or the Rosenthal case. Personally we are doing one on the Lizzie Borden alleged slaying of her pa and ma. It should be terrific.

We have a great ballet in which 40 girls in girdles and G-strings interpret the spirit of the hatchet descending on a mother's head.

An orchestra of eighty pieces goes all-out on a number called the "Dance of the Coroners."

It ought to go great. Not a laugh or a smile anywhere.

Which reminds us of a squawk we once heard from a barboy back home. "That feller," he complained, "has not only been stewed for ten days, but he owes me for it."

John D. Rockefeller, III, handed Trygve Lie a check for $8,500,000 for the new UN site the other day. Much curiosity was shown over a check of this size. Mayor O'Dwyer of New York asked to have a second look at it. We, too, would like to take a peek at a check for eight and a half million bucks. What is the sensation? Does the spine tingle? Do the eyebrows quiver? One of our scouts was at the UN ceremonies and says such a check is less interesting than one for, say, $89.45. "I wouldn't take a check for $8,500,000," he declares. "It would be too much trouble cashing it. The bank looks at me suspiciously enough when I come in with the $89.45 one."

Birds To Spare

By TRUMAN TWILL

Unidentified pals have been getting playful again about our position on birds. Literature has been left on our desk exhorting us to get in line for our copy of a book that will tell us how to attract birds of all kinds.

This isn't as funny as the jokers think it is. We don't need any book, because something about us attracts birds. It is the one thing we do well, without conscious effort. As a baby, we had to be protected with chicken wire to keep hawks from swooping down and carrying us off.

The crows used to fly as crows fly from miles around to steal rattles and blocks out of our playpen. One of the first things we learned to do was eat crow. It made an indelible impression. To this day, people look at our face and exclaim, "What horrible crows' nests!"

After the crows came pigeons. Pigeons followed us around, eating crumbs from our cookies and zwieback. Naturally, we grabbed them as any red-blooded child would do. The first words we ever spoke were, "That's a dead pigeon." It was.

As we grew older, birds continued to pester us. Some of them were always fluttering around, clucking and making nuisances of themselves. They got into our hair. One day we snarled "Get those birds out of here before I lose my temper." To this day, "birds" is an expression of contempt in the American language.

At one time there was trouble with wrens. There was one wren in particular that proved troublesome—a cradlerobbing wren, they called her. Someone decided it was time to clip her wings because she was a high-flier. That's what they said. (Wrens don't bother us any more, darn it.)

But now we are annoyed by cowbirds, ruby-throated hummingbirds, old crows and scissor-tailed flycatchers. Furthermore, every so often a bird shows up that can't be readily identified and may be wrongly classified as a horned lark when the truth is it's a brown-creeper, maybe worse.

We still draw bords like a bald head draws flies, perhaps for the same reason. Lately, some of the birds we've noticed defy description. It would take more than a book to know what to say about them.

Anyone feeling lonesome for feathered friendship can have our overflow of green kingfishers, golden-fronted woodpeckers, great horned owls, yellow warblers and nuthatches. We've got 'em to spare.

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

"And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He said unto him, Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny Me thrice." Luke 22 61.

* * *

WHEN Peter "remembered—he wept". Evidences of man's appalling sin and denial of his Lord today are shockingly numerous. How poor our boasted strength and prowess in the testing hour! As we deny Him, or fail Him, or forget Him amidst things that glitter and absorb, He is still turning and looking upon us! That look is so patient, so gentle, so true. It should beget within us bitter tears of shame and self-condemnation, coupled with the firm resolve to be more loyal and true to Him. Despite all your shameful failures and denials of the past, of which He is so painfully aware, He still loves you and yearns to woo you back to the way of rock-courage and His own abiding peace.

Anti-Communism To Be Slogan Of Democratic Party in 1948

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 31—You can be sure one of the Democrats' big talking points in the 1948 elections will be anti-Communism.

They're laying in a nice supply of anti-Communism ammunition now.

Communism in this country, which has shown a big distaste for it, is an easy political football in any political campaign.

James Marlow

In the 1946 congressional elections the Republicans kept linking up the Democrats with Communism. The Democrats lost.

The one who did the most talking about it was Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee. He ran the Republican campaign.

He said things like this, not once but often:

"A vote for the candidates of the Democratic-PAC-Communist alliance is a vote for x x x appeasement of Stalin."

"Captured Democratic Party"

He said "red fascists" had captured control of the Democratic party.

And he said a "radical group dedicated to Sovietizing the United States" was making the policies of the Democrats.

Nobody can tell how much that hurt the Democrats, how many votes it cost them, but it's a cinch it didn't help.

With the memory of the Democratic defeat in 1946 still fresh in his mind, President Truman is banging at the Communists at home and abroad.

Just look at what's happened in a few weeks.

He set a new American foreign policy. He wants the United States to block the spread of Communism in Europe by helping Greece and Turkey.

Orders Government Purge

In this country he's ordered Communists, and fellow-travelers fired from the government service.

His secretary of labor, Lewis B. Schwellenbach, went up to congress and suggested the Communist party here be outlawed.

(Mr Truman later said he didn't tell Schwellenbach to do that but he didn't say it displeased him).

And now his attorney general, Tom Clark, has begun beating a drum for Mr Truman's anti-Communist stand.

Talking Saturday night about Mr. Truman's stand against Communism, Clark said:

President Truman's stand will go down in history as the "Truman Doctrine."

Clark compared it with the Monroe Doctrine and told a Jackson day dinner at Des Moines, that Mr. Truman measures up as a "great president, a man of mettle."

Then Clark, recalling the Democratic defeat in the 1946 elections, said:

"And now America has rallied around this stout-hearted, fearless man who dares to do all that is necessary for his people. x x x

"We know that a two-party system works both ways. We know that under that system, what happened in the last election can be reversed in the next.

"And we Democrats were never more thankful for that two-party system than we are today as we look forward to the November (elections), of 1948."

To polish off his speech, Clark accused some of the Republicans now of sitting down when "democracy is at stake."

Stronger Body Helps This New Tire OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

No sensible driver would deliberately run his tires over a rock like the one in the picture. But sometimes it can't be helped...and that's when you will be glad if you have B.F.Goodrich passenger car tires. Built with more and stronger cords, the tire body is better engineered and 35% stronger than in wartime tires. But in building this stronger body to hold the more durable, wider, flatter tread, B. F. Goodrich engineers built into it greater resistance to "road shock."

Supplies of this new tire are still limited. However, we'll do our best to keep your car rolling until we can get new tires for you.

NATHAN A. PIATT DIES AT HOSPITAL

Former Universal Cooler Employe; Funeral Wednesday.

Nathan Alexander Piatt, 71, a resident of southwest of Marion, died in City hospital at 12.05 a. m. today. He was admitted to the hospital at 3:30 p. m. Sunday to be treated for a ruptured stomach ulcer.

Born Nov. 27, 1875, in Sandyville, W. Va., he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Piatt. His wife, Mrs. Fannie Morgan Piatt, died Dec. 10, 1943. A resident of Marion county 28 years, he came here from Cadillac, Mich. He had worked at the Universal Cooler Corp. plant until his health began to fail in recent months.

Surviving are the following children, Roy Piatt of 551 North Greenwood street, Charles Piatt of near Marion, Chester Piatt of 967 Davids street, and Mrs. Edward Thompson of Glen Willard, Pa., 18 grandchildren, a brother, John Piatt of Parkersburg, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. George Collins of Glen Willard, and Mrs Margaret Taylor of Latourette street.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue by Rev. H. V. Falor, pastor of Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church. Burial will be in Meeker cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 10 a. m. Tuesday.

count of import requirements of the population of Germany shall be the first charge on Germany's foreign exchange resources after her essential needs have been met," Bevin's proposal set forth.

"The controlling powers will furnish the appropriate German central administration with an agreed statement as of June 30, 1947, of any sums owing to them under the head."

"The American delegation came here to negotiate any try to settle the gravest world problems," said one American informant, "but we cannot do that on a basis of anybody's ultimatum."

U. S. Completing Statement

Meanwhile it was learned that the United States was completing its statement on the fulfillment of its obligations in China under the Big Three 1945 Moscow agreement. It was understood that would be sent by Marshall to Molotov in time to meet the April 1 deadline for exchange of information to China.

Molotov was presumed to be preparing the Soviet reaction.

Struck Radio Station WCKY Goes Back on Air

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 31—Radio station WCKY, whose 50,000-watt voice was silenced for 19 hours during the weekend by a strike of AFL engineers, was back on the air today with station officials substituting for the union technicians and announcers.

The station's engineers, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, shut down the station at 1 p. m. Saturday when they left their jobs during a disagreement on the wording of a "no strike" clause in a contract being negotiated.

Funeral Services Held For Accident Victim

Funeral services for John L. Creviston of 283 South High street, injured fatally in a traffic accident Thursday, were conducted Saturday afternoon in the L. A. Axe and Son funeral home on Mt. Vernon avenue. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiated. Burial was in Marion cemetery. Mr. Creviston was a veteran of World War II and was a member of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion and of Amvets. Military rites were conducted at the grave with a firing squad and bugler from Co. D, National Guard.

Miss Claire Louise Kraatz of 355 Mt. Vernon avenue and Mrs. Florence Schuler of 370 Mary street, who were injured in the accident, are reported to be improving at City hospital. Miss Kraatz is suffering from a fractured right lower leg, and Mrs. Schuler from a shoulder injury.

CULTURAL PROGRAM SET FOR OCCUPIED GERMANY

Selected Personnel To Be Brought to U. S. for Study.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The government today announced a cultural relations program for occupied Germany designed to further the "democratic reorientation of the German people."

A combined state, war and navy department statement said carefully screened Germans will be brought to this country to observe, work in, and study these fields: education, religion and public information; civic, welfare, youth and other social organizations; occupational and professional organizations; arts, letters, music and the stage.

The announcement said private institutions are welcome to participate in financing the program and that offers for training and accommodating Germans will be of "maximum value."

No estimate was given of the number of Germans that may benefit from the program nor its cost to the government.

Explosion Sets Palestine Oil Pipelines Blazing

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 31—Blasted oil installations blazed along a quarter mile of Haifa's waterfront today as British authorities in that port hastened preparation to deport 1,500 uncertified Jewish immigrants to Cyprus.

The oil fire, said to have started early this morning with a "single earth-shaking boom," spread along feeder lines and engulfed eight storage tanks after the second explosion in four days at the Haifa terminus of the 800-mile pipelines of the Iraq Petroleum Co. Unofficial damage estimates ran as high as 4,000,000 pounds, ($16,000,000).

Meanwhile, some two miles away British Sixth Airborne division soldiers, wearing tennis shoes and carrying pick handles, began putting the immigrants aboard Cyrus-bound transports.

4,510 TRAFFIC TOLL

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 31—The National Safety Council announced today that 4,510 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the United States in January and February, 17 per cent fewer than in the first two months of 1946 and 19 per cent fewer than the same period in 1941.

SLEEPING SICKNESS HITS STOCK MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Individual stocks made a little progress today but the market generally suffered a slight case of sleeping sickness.

From the start dealings were among the slowest of the past year. Declines of fractions to a point or more ruled near the fourth hour.

The threatened telephone strike and coal mine holiday inspired some selling by professionals who still accounted for most of the volume. Doubts regarding business, taxes, foreign affairs and labor kept the majority of brokerage customers in neutral territory. Good earnings and dividends propped assorted favorites.

American Woolen was a soft spot, dropping better than 3 points as the outlook in this field was reported a bit cloudy. Backward were Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific, Great Northern Railway, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Texas Co., Goodrich, American Telephone, Union Carbide and American Smelting.

Improved at intervals were Bethlehem, Southern Railway, United Aircraft, North American, Du Pont and Johns-Manville.

DRAFT BOARDS

erans in reemployment problems and registration of 18-year-olds and of those who entered the service by enlistment and without previous registration. They have received no draft calls since last October.

At the peak of the selective service program approximately 150 men were inducted through the three local boards each month. Total number inducted by the three boards was 4,792. Of this number 2,789 have been discharged, 876 are stil in service and 98 were either killed in action or died in service. The number discharged does not include those other than honorable discharges.

Boards two and three were consolidated in December of last year. Chief clerk of the combined boards is Mrs. Adams. Chief clerk of board one is Miss Lenore Bondley.

10 Million Called in U. S.

During its operation the selective service system inspired "greetings" from the President to 10,022,367 men throughout the nation. The Army was the chief beneficiary of the draft because the Navy, until the latter stages of the war preferred to adhere to its precedent of volunteers only.

The end of the greatest manpower mustering organization in the nations history finds the Army with a force of 1,161,000 men. Of this total 117,000 are "non-effectives," men who are in the process of being demobilized. Beginning July 1, the average for the ensuing year will be 1,070,000, according to The Associated Press, compared with the 8,300,000 peak figure of the war.

Fresh Indian Rioting Toll Climbs to 42

By The Associated Press

BOMBAY, March 31—Fresh outbreaks of Hindu-Moslem violence today raised to 42 killed and 144 wounded the number of casualties recorded in this city in the last 36 hours. Similar disturbances in Calcutta and Cawnpore caused nine deaths and 50 wounded.

Most of the casualties in Bombay were recorded yesterday. 40 being killed and 137 wounded during widespread disorders which were quelled only after police fired repeatedly into rioting mobs. One of the two men killed today was burned to death when a crowd set his home afire.

British troops joined police in patrolling the streets today in an effort to keep order, and public gatherings of more than four persons were rigidly prohibited.

A maze of unconfirmed rumors spread throughout the city as to the cause of the disorders, which resulted in fierce gang fights, stabbing and arson, including the firing of a cotton mill.

Commissioners Award Contract for Ditch

Marion county commissioners today awarded a contract for general reconstruction of the Enoch-Dome-Clark ditch in Montgomery township to Shanefelter and McKinley of Ashland.

Bid of the Ashland firm, the only bid submitted, was $8 339.52, compared to the engineer's estimate of $9,034.32. Specifications call for the work to start April 20 and completion date is Sept. 20.

The project was petitioned for by the late Homer H. Heller.

HENNEY & COOPER

Jesse H. Mason Dies Suddenly

son of Jesse and Ida May (Rhoton) Mason.

His widow is a native of Morrow county. She is the former Miss Ruth Wheeler of Marengo. They were married in 1917 as the culmination of a romance that started while both were students in Ohio Wesleyan university. She is the only immediate survivor. They had no children.

After two years at Sparta Mr. Mason entered Ohio Wesleyan university as a student in 1909.

He returned to Sparta in 1910 as principal of schools for three years, then again attended Ohio Wesleyan during the 1914-15 term, graduating in 1915 with a B. A. degree. Then, through the remainder of 1915 and early 1916 he taught mathematics at the university. Also in 1916 he served as high school principal at Bryan, O., then was elected superintendent at Monroeville, O.

Served in World War I

He relinquished the latter position after only a few months in 1917 to enter military service in the first World War. He enlisted as a private in the machine gun company of the 329th regiment at Camp Sherman. On assignment by Major General William F. Glenn, he attended the third officers' training camp. Commissioned a first lieutenant, he was assigned to the 40th infantry at Camp Custer.

After release from military service at the end of the war in 1918, Mr. Mason became high school principal at Martins Ferry in 1919, then high school principal at Zanesville in 1920-21. He was elected superintendent of schools at Chillicothe and served there in 1922-23, coming to Marion as superintendent in the latter year.

Record in Marion

Mr. Mason's ability to interest citizens in education was an outstanding quality.

In Marion this ability carried through a levy for a $750,000 building program.

His five years in Marion were marked by a tremendous progress in the city schools. His work here attracted attention throughout the state and he refused several attractive offers from other cities before he accepted the position at Canton.

He was one of the most popular men ever to head the Marion public school system. Genial, with a remarkable memory for names of the boys and girls in the schools, he combined a thorough knowledge of school administration with a marked degree of diplomacy which led to popular approval of projects he sought for the schools.

That this combination of talent and skill in working with people was effective is shown in the records of his five years as head of Marion schools.

In his letter of resignation to the board of education, after he had accepted the Canton appointment, he said a study of records would reveal that not once was there ever a single negative vote on any recommendation he had made to the board. "Support of this kind is rare in a city the size of Marion," he wrote.

His resignation, which was effective Dec. 1, 1928, was accepted at a special meeting of the board on Oct. 19, 1928. The offer of the Canton superintendency was made there in Oct. 15, was tentatively accepted the following day, pending release by the Marion board, and the Canton board made a unanimous appointment on Oct. 17.

Successful carrying through of the levy for a three quarter of a million dollar building program here in the fall of 1928 was largely attributed to Mr. Mason's manner of presenting the needs to the public and the public's faith in his recommendation.

As a result the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school and the George Washington school were erected and the high school site in southeast Marion was purchased.

The actual building program was carried through by Mr. Mason's successor, George A. Bowman.

Educators over the state and friends of Mr. Mason and his successor here, George A. Bowman, watched with interest the unusual circumstances of their progress together along the paths of education. Mr. Bowman left Marion in 1934 to head the Lakewood, O. schools, and now is president of Kent State university at Kent, O.

Their paths first crossed in Morrow county in the school at Sparta. Mr. Mason was principal and Mr. Bowman was a teacher. Both served during the first World war, Mr. Mason in the army, Mr. Bowman in the navy. Both chose to take post-graduate work at Ohio State university. Mr. Mason went to Zanesville as principal of the high school and shortly afterwards Mr. Bowman was hired as manager of athletics and assistant principal. When Mr. Mason went to Chillicothe, Mr. Bowman succeeded to the principalship of Zanesville and in 1923 when Mr. Mason came to Marion he was succeeded at Chillicothe by Mr. Bowman. Five years later Mr. Bowman took over the superintendency of the Marion schools.

Never satisfied to rest on his accumulated schooling, Mr. Mason remained until his death an avid student of all phases of education. He studied during two summer sessions at Ohio State university while serving as head of the Marion schools and in 1923 received his master's degree from Columbia university. He was awarded his doctor of education degree by Ohio Wesleyan in 1937.

Mr. Mason was made a life member of the National Education association 15 years ago and was a member of the American Association of School Administrators.

Mr. Mason served as president of the Marion Rotary club and was the official delegate of the club to the international convention held in Ostend, Belgium, in June, 1927. Mrs. Mason accompanied her husband on the trip and also in the party were the late Fred E. Guthery and Mrs. Guthery. After the convention they spent the summer on a tour of Europe.

MINERS

of coal at most industrial plants. At the giant U. S. Steel Corp. in Pittsburgh, however, officials said eight blast furnaces might have to be shut down for lack of coke. They said beehive ovens, which supply 20 per cent of the coke used to make pig iron, would be closed since workers are UMW members. Youngstown, O., steel sources also expected some reduction in output.

Lexington, Ky., where little coal has been delivered recently, faced a shortage. Many dealers said they had only two to four days supply on hand. Officials said the situation was not expected to become serious if mild weather prevails.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania railroad said that line would not be affected critically by the mine shutdown but that some train crews would be laid off since they would not be needed to haul coal from the mines.

Sees No Hardship

A leader of the Association of Western Railways said at Chicago, however, the shutdown "won't bring much hardship." An official of the Chicago and northwestern railroad reported most roads have from 15 to 30 days' coal supply.

The Tri-State Industrial association, composed of about 135 steel fabricating plants in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, said member plants were "in good shape." He added: "they learned a lesson in the past and now have adequate stockpiles of coal."

The mourning period, which Lewis contended is provided for in the UMW-government contract, was labeled a "strike" by Walter Thurmond of Charleston, W. Va., secretary of the Southern Coal Producers association. He called the work stoppage "a peculiar method of paying respect to the dead."

Ask Ouster of Krug

Thomas Raney, UMW board member at Pikeville, Ky., said representatives of miners in the Sandy coal field, adopted resolutions which demanded the immediate removal of Secretary Krug as mines administrator.

At Benld, Ill., the 2,000 members of the largest local in the Progressive Mine Workers of America union (independent) voted to stay away from work today and give $7,800 to families of miners killed in the Illinois explosion. The independent miners will work the remainder of the week.

The effect of the UMW work stoppage on normal coal production this week will be limited by the fact that tomorrow is a tradition miners' holiday in honor of past president John Mitchell and John L. Lewis, and by the two Holy days which fall during the mine shutdown, since miners do not work on Sundays and half are idle on Saturdays, the full effect of the shutdown will be felt only on Wednesday.

The miners' holiday tomorrow was originally called in observance of the miners' winning of the eight-hour day April 1, 1898. Later, however, they called it "Mitchell-Lewis day" in tribute to the union leaders.

Black Monday Of Mourning Entered At Blast Scene

By The Associated Press

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 31—A black Monday of mourning was proclaimed today as Centralia and four nearby communities resumed burial services for their 111 victims of the worst mine disaster since 1928.

Stores, offices and schools were closed in compliance with a joint proclamation by the mayors of Centralia, Wamac, Central City, Sandoval and Glen Ridge where most of the victims of last Tuesday's explosion in the Centralia Coal Company's No. 5 mine lived.

Townspeople who share the grief of the miners' families were asked to attend a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and a memorial service in the high school gymnasium conducted by the county Ministerial association.

For the families of at least 14 of the dead, there were brief notes telling of the last thought of their loved ones as they faced the death which they apparently knew was their fate 540 feet beneath the earth's surface.

The last of the bodies was located Saturday and preparations were being made to start state and federal investigations of the disaster this week.

ASK AWARD IN SUIT BY STOCKHOLDERS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, March 31—Court-appointed attorneys asked U. S. District Judge George A. Welsh today to award $1,950 000 to four law firms involved in the settlement of claims on behalf of Pennroad Corporation stockholders.

The suit grew out of charge by Pennroad stockholders that the Pennsylvania Railroad made "improper expenditures of nearly $95,000,000 of corporation funds."

Last August the railroad agreed to settle the Pennroad stockholders' suits for $15,000,000. Pennroad was formed in 1929 as an investment corporation by PRR officers and directors.

Thomas C. Egan, former Pennsylvania public utility commissioner, and James L. Baxter, engaged by Judge Welsh to assist in arbitrating claims filed by the 19 lawyers and stockholders representatives for $4,000,000, recommended payment of the seven-figure sum.

The firms are headed by former U. S. Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Delaware Republican; Evans, Byard and Frick, Philadelphia; Marshall, Carey and Doub, Baltimore, and Hugh F. O'Donnell, New York.

The attorneys also recommended additional payments of $535,000 to 15 other claimants.

Operation Set To Save Life of Malformed Baby

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, March 31 — Surgeons at Temple university hospital today planned an operation in an attempt to save the life of a four-day-old boy by linking his incompleted esophagus with his stomach.

The infant, yet unnamed son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hanley of Greenville, S. C., was flown here yesterday in a C-47 from the Army Air Base at Greenville.

The plane, piloted by Capt. Thomas E. Stewart and Major Orlo L. Austin of the Ninth Air Force, landed at the Philadelphia naval base at 4:30 p. m. and the boy was rushed to the hospital by ambulance.

The boy, kept alive by intravenous feedings, was kept under observation during the night. The hospital said his chances of recovery are "very grave."

One physician said the boy's condition at birth, while unusual, turned up occasionally in newborn babies.

Daytonian Killed; Wife Apparently Wounds Self

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 31—Julius G. Timmerman, 38, merchandising manager of Kroger stores in Dayton, was killed by a rifle bullet last night at his suburban Oakwood home, and his wife, Lavada, 35, was wounded by a shot she herself apparently fired from the same weapon shortly afterward, Montgomery County Coroner A P. McDonald said today.

Timmerman was found lying on a bed in the house, dead from a bullet in the back of his head; and Mrs. Timmerman was in another room with wound in her abdomen, Police Chief H. H. Farler of Oakwood said. The woman was reported in "fair condition" at Miami Valley hospital.

Farler and City Solicitor Gale Murphy of Oakwood said they would confer today on possible charges to be filed against Mrs. Timmerman, pending her recovery.

UN VETO OF GREEK AID PROPOSAL MADE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) proposed today to give the United Nations power, by majority vote, to halt any American aid congress approves for Greece and Turkey.

At hearings by the senate foreign relations committee on legislation to authorize $400,000,000 of aid, he suggested writing in an amendment under which President Truman would be required to halt the aid when and if the United Nations directed him to.

His suggested amendment reads:

"The President is directed to withdraw any or all aid authorized herein under any of the following circumstances:

"(1) If requested by any government of Greece or Turkey representing a majority of the people of either such nation;

"(2) If requested by a procedural vote in the security council or a majority vote in the general asembly of the United Nations,

"(3) If the President finds that the purposes of the act have been substantially accomplished or are incapable of satisfactory accomplishment."

Chinese Terror Reign In Formosa Charged

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, March 31—John W. Powell, editor of the magazine China Weekly Review, charged today that Formosa's governor-general, Chen Yi, has "coupled trickery with a rein of terror probably not equalled in China in the history of the Kuomintang (governing party)" to "virtually suppress the Formosa revolution."

Powell said disturbances are continuing only in the more remote sections, but that, by conservative estimates, 5,000 Formosans already are listed as dead and thousands have been imprisoned. He published his report after returning from a visit to the big island, which was returned to Chinese control after the defeat of Japan.

The Central News Agency—official government organ—previously termed the Formosan disorders open and widespread rebellion. No immediate comment on Powell's report was forthcoming from government sources.

Legion Posts To Assist Return Of War Dead from Foreign Soil

As a part of the service of the American Legion to families of service men and women who gave their lives in World War II, posts throughout the county will assist in any way possible in carrying out the plans of the war department in the return of the dead it was announced today by post representatives. Return of the honored dead is in keeping with a bill passed by congress and signed by President Truman known as Public Law No. 383, on May 16, 1946, directing the secretary of war to make arrangements for final burial of all dead of World War II.

The time has come, it is pointed out, for families of these men and women to determine what disposition is to be made of the bodies and the next of kin will be asked to make the decision. This is not just another job of the Army those in charge state. The office of the quartermaster general is responsible for this huge task of seeing that all persons who lost their lives in World War II, Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and all civilian personnel be buried in accord with the wishes of their families.

Four Options Offered

Letters explaining the program, to be sent to all next of kin, will contain enclosures offering four options, one to be selected, according to the present plans. These options are as follows: (one) interment in a permanent U. S. military cemetery overseas; (two) return to the United States for final burial in a private cemetery; (three) return to the United States for burial in a National cemetery; (four) shipment to a foreign country, the homeland of the deceased for interment in a private cemetery.

The expense of burial in a national cemetery in the United States or in a United States military cemetery overseas, will be borne by the war department. If interment in a private cemetery in the United States or overseas is requested the government will pay transportation cost to the city or town assigned by the next of kin and allow up to $50 for interment expenses.

Order of Recognition

The wishes of relatives for final burial will be recognized in the following order: If deceased was married the surviving spouse has the first and final preference. However, he or she must not have been divorced or separted at the time of death, or remarried. If husband or wife has remarried or separated prior to the death, then the preference passes to sons who are over 21 years of age. If there are no son or sons over 21 the preference passes to daughters who are over 21 years of age. If there are children under age or no children, all right passes to relatives in the order of relationship to the deceased. If deceased was not married at the time of death the decision rests with first, the father, second the mother, and after them the brothers over 21 or sisters over 21 years of age. If no brothers or sisters over 21 years of age exist, all rights go to other relatives directly in order of relationship.

Remains will arrive at one of two ports, New York and San Francisco, and from there will be sent to city or town designated. Nearest of kin will be kept in constant contact by wire as to the whereabouts of the remains. One hundred and thirteen special equipment hospital cars will be used by the transportation corps to transport the bodies. The bodies will be forwarded in flag-draped caskets and will be accompanied to their destination by a military escort of like rank or higher, provided by the government. The escorts will be from the same military service to which the deceased belonged.

Legion Ready for Service

In keeping with the request of the quartermaster general the American Legion is assisting in carrying out the program. The posts are prepared to handle any details of the plan and assist relatives in completing the form and acting in an advisory capacity Earl L. West, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post and George D. Hildebrand, service officer of GI post and former Army major state.

Arrangements made by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162 and GI Post No. 584 for carrying out the war department request are typical of plans made by other posts in the county.

Bird-McGinnis Post has organized two firing squads, fully equipped, with uniforms in Legion blue.

Mr. Hildebrand said that in the near future the War Department will have available a film titled "Decision," which will be shown to the general public at the GI post clubrooms. The picture covers the subject of returning the war dead and is designed to aid families in arriving at a decision. Information regarding the film will be sent to families of local known war dead Mr. Hildebrand said.

School Bill Voted Support of Grange

At a meeting of Progressive Grange last week in the Grange hall, the organization went on record as favoring Senate Bill 48 concerning welfare of children and teachers in the public schools. A discussion on the bill was led by Mrs. C. M. Gorby.

In charge of the meeting was C. M. Gorby. During the lecture hour, Miss Alice Price gave a report on the state lecturer's short course held recently in Columbus. Harold Wickersham presented a reading. Pomona Grange was announced for Saturday night, April 5, at Martel.

For the next meeting of Progressive Grange, a reception will be held for new members. A potluck supper will be served by Mrs. A. G. Spring, Mrs. U. F. Zachman, Mrs. L. M. Wickersham and Mrs. Cecil Davis.

Folks Like Trading at Lennon's

You will like the way you are met with a smile. Even during the hectic war years no one ever received a sharp reply from a Lennon clerk. If you asked for something we did not have, we tried our best to help you find it.

When you call we try to be friends. Of course we don't sell everyone who comes in but we do our very level best to help you wherever we can.

Lenons' employees are the highest paid people in their lines in Marion. They are happy in their work. They know they are being well paid to be of service to you. That is why you expect more from a Lennon employee. They are proud of their work.

Our customers are proving that high wages do not mean high prices. Thrifty, careful buyers tell us repeatedly that they save at Lennon's. And it must be true for our sales are running way ahead of even last year. High wages and large volume are just plain common sense.

We show good merchandise at the very lowest prices consistent with good business and our goods are sold with assurance of your satisfaction.

Take Mattresses for example. A Stearns and Foster Mattress costs more than some others because it is worth more. A Stearns and Foster Mattress is the acme of sleeping comfort. When you buy one you know that it is backed up by more than 100 years experience of fine mattress making. We sell them with a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back. For solid comfort try a Stearns and Foster Mattress and Box Spring. It will make you our friend for life.

TREASON CONVICTION UPHELD BY COURT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The supreme court today upheld the treason conviction of Hans Max Haupt, father of one of the German saboteurs who was executed here during the war.

Haupt, a Chicago resident, was sentenced to life imprisonment and fined $10,000. His son, Herbert Haupt, was one of the German agents who landed on the Florida coast from a submarine Herbert made his way to Chicago where FBI agents later arrested him at his father's house

Justice Jackson delivered the court's 8-1 opinion Justice Murphy wrote a dissent.

Jackson said the elder Haupt's acts 'were aid in steps essential to his son's "design for treason."

'There can be no question,' Jackson wrote, 'that sheltering or helping to buy a car, or helping to get employment is helpful to an enemy agent, that they were of aid and comfort to Herbert Haupt in his mission of sabotage"

It was charged that the elder Haupt sheltered his son for six days assisted him in obtaining employment in a lens plant and helped him to buy an automobile.

Murphy in dissenting said every act that gives aid and comfort to an enemy goes not necessarily constitute an overt act of treason, even though the agent's status is known."

Cast Presents Bible Pageant

Program Marks Easter Season for Epworth Methodist Congregation.

In colorful costumes of Bible days more than 45 adults and children presented to an appreciative audience last night an Easter pageant, "The Dawning" by Lmyan Bayard, at Epworth Methodist church.

The principal part was taken by Ralph Carnart as the Roman centurion who had given the final order for the crucifixion of Christ, and who, through the events which followed, became convinced of the divinity of the man on the cross and became a convert to the new religion of Christianity. Others were disciples, women at the tomb, children who had taken part in the Palm Sunday triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem, and other followers of Christ The action was concerned with the discovery of evidence of the truth of the resurrection of Christ from the dead and ended with His followers' determination to carry out His command to "conquer" the world by spreading His teachings abroad, following His ascension into heaven

Solos in the course of the presentation were sung by Mrs Stanley Moore, Mrs Ralph Hancock, Mrs Ronald Klingel, Mrs. C H Indoe, Mrs Carold Staynor, Ruth Wilson, Tom Indoe, Ronald Klingel and Paul Smith who played a flute part preceding his song Misses Anne Baldwin and Marjorie Middleton in choir robes, lighted the candles Dr. V E Busler, pastor, spoke briefly in appreciation of the work of the cast and those connected with the presentation and conducted an offertory service

Truman Scratches Prison Head From Army Promotions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—President Truman today deleted the name of Lt Col James A Kilian former commander of the Lichfield replacement depot, from an army promotion list

Kilian's name was included originally in a list of 683 lieutenant colonels submitted to the White House by the war department for promotion to the rank of full colonel The President removed Kilian's name before sending the list to the senate for action.

Kilian was convicted by court martial of permitting "cruel" punishment of enlisted men detained at Litchfield in England during the war The sentence was handed down Aug. 20, 1946, and the case is now pending on appeal

Kilian was sentenced to be reprimanded and to pay a fine of $500.

The senate previously held up action on a promotion list because Kilian's name was included

Presidential Secretary Charles G Ross in announcing the President's action, told reporters

'Col Kilian's name was on the list. It is on there no longer The President took it off"

Mrs. Busler Speaks At Circle Meeting

Mrs. V. I. Busler was a guest and gave an informal talk at a meeting of Circle No. 8 of the W.S.C.S. of Epworth Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl Thomas on Spencer street. Mrs. Earl Andrews presided and Mrs. Arthur Smith gave a report of the executive board meeting of the general society. Plans were discussed for the April meeting which will be a potluck dinner at the church on April 23. Mrs. Jack Danner conducted the devotions on the theme "The Faith of a Little Child."

Reports included 25 hours devoted to Red Cross work, 23 calls made and four cards sent. Mrs. V. Dixon Felt presented the afternoon program on the subject, "Children in the Church," stressing the need of early training of children and the advantages of the church for children. Refreshments included Russian tea served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Danner, Mrs. George Schwab and Mrs. W. A. Howison, associate hostesses.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the clerk of the Board of Education of The Montgomery Local School District, Meeker, Marion County, Ohio, until 12 O'clock noon on April 24, 1947, for the purchase of bonds of said school district, in the aggregate amount of $50,000.00 dated the 1st day of April 1947 and bearing interest at the rate of not more than 3%, per annum, payable semi-annually, issued for the purpose of constructing an auditorium-gymnasium and making permanent improvements as per sections 2293—2 and 2293—19 to —23 of the General Code of Ohio, and under and in accordance with a certain resolution of the Board of Education of said School District, entitled: "To issue bonds after submission to the Electors", for the purpose of constructing an auditorium-gymnasium and making permanent improvements, passed on the 20th day of March, 1947.

Said bonds are of the denomination of $1250.00 each with the exception of bonds numbered 1 to 5 inclusive, which are for $1500.00 each, and are serially numbered from one (1) to thirty nine (39) inclusive, and mature semi-annually as follows:

Bond No. 1 $1500.00 — April 1, 1948.
Bond No. 2 $1500.00 — October 1, 1948.
Bond No. 3 $1500.00 — April 1, 1949.
Bond No. 4 $1500.00 — October 1, 1949.
Bond No. 5 $1500.00 — April 1, 1950.

and bonds Nos. 6 to 39 inclusive ($1250.00) each April 1 and October 1 in the years beginning October 1, 1950 to April 1, 1967 inclusive.

Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than specified in the advertising, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one quarter of one percent or multiples thereof.

Bids may be made upon all or any number of bonds of this issue.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest or best bidder, at the time and place above mentioned at not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids covering total number of bonds, must be accompanied by a certified check drawn in favor of the Board of Education of the Montgomery School District in the sum of $500.00, on a lesser number, 1% of the par value of the amount so bid.

The Board of Education, of said School District, reserves the privilege to reject any and all bids. Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Montgomery Local School District Bonds".

Guy's, Buckeyes Meet at Y Tonight for Championship

Guy's Red Raiders and Kirkpatrick's Buckeyes meet tonight at 8 on the Y.M.C.A.'s upper floor for the Y.M.C.A. double elimination championship.

Saturday night Guy's sent the tournament into an extra session by downing the Buckeyes 41 to 34. Undefeated previously in the tournament, the Buckeyes could have copped the crown by taking this one.

The score was identical to that by which Guy's had downed McMillen Feeds the previous night. One of the largest crowds, 200 to witness a Y game this season attended.

Tonight's game, which will decide the kingpin of the 18 teams that have been playing Y.M.C.A. ball this year, will be the sixth Guy-Buckeye affair.

Guy's now hold an edge, having turned in victories three of the times that the teams met.

They met first at the end of the first round of regular A league sessions. Guy's, riding along undefeated, needed that win to clinch the crown and turned the trick. The Buckeyes could have sent that round into a play-off.

The second time the teams met both teams needed the win badly and the Buckeyes took that one to tie Universal Cooler for first place at the end of the second chapter of the loop.

Downing Cooler outfit for the second round league crown, the Buckeyes had to meet Guy's for the league championship and the Raiders smacked them down.

After that the Buckeyes came back and knocked off Guy's in the tournament and then Saturday night Guy's evened the score.

The winner of this game will be awarded a championship trophy in ceremonies after the game. Members of the championship team will be awarded gold medals and the squadmen with the runner-up, silver medals.

The roster of players and the number of points scored follows:

Cooler—Busler 14, Holler 0, Reid 4, Wynn 8, Mustaine 18, Garver 7, Moran 0, Ruoy 6, Humphrey 3.

Detrola—V. Aird 7, Carus 0, Moe 0, Varga 3, Tweet 3, Swienton 2, Magnan 12, Rudy 0, Vaugn 11, R. Aird 0, Garland 1.

Officials were Hart and Slazenski.

Lady Luck May Smile on Derby's Horse Number 2

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — If you want to play a hunch, you might put your money on No. 2 in the 1947 Kentucky Derby May 3.

You won't know the name of the horse for the No. 2 post position until the day before the race. But that's the number Assault wore in winning last year, and winning numbers have shown an amazing tendency to run in pairs since 1900.

It was No. 3 in 1900-01; No. 4 in 1902-03, No. 5 in 1911-12-13, No. 8 in 1916-17, No. 1 in 1937-38, and No. 5 again in 1943-44.

In the last 46 years, nine winners have started from box No. 5 and seven each from No. 1 and No. 4. No. 13 has won once, but only once. That was in 1932.

INDIANS BACK AT HOME BASE TODAY

Return to Tucson After Poor Barnstorming Tour.

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 31—The Cleveland Indians were back at their home training base today after a none-too-successful barnstorming tour of California.

The Tribe will resume its exhibition series with the Chicago Cubs today with rookie Bob Kuzava, who has hurled 17 consecutive scoreless innings, and Steve Gromek sharing the hurling assignment.

Kuzava has been the most impressive flinger in camp and apparently has cinched a starting berth while Gromek has yet to show his old-time skill and definitely is a question mark.

Sale yesterday of Don Ross, 31-year-old utility infielder, to Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league, reduced the Indian roster to nine infielders and a further cut is expected.

Sale of Ross came as a surprise inasmuch as Manager Lou Boudreau previously had stated that Don figured strongly in the plans for 1947. However, Boudreau now believes that Eddie Bockman will better fill the bill as a spare infielder and pinch hitter.

The Tribe dropped a 10 to 8 decision to the Chicago White Sox at San Diego yesterday.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 31—Broadcaster Frank Frisch, who used to manage the Cardinals and Pirates, strings along with the old theory that the way to develop a ball player is for him to play ball . . . Frank cited Marty Marion as a prize example. "When I first saw Marion I never thought he'd become a good hitter, he always was a fine fielder . . . He looked like the kind of player you'd send to Rochester and that's what we did . . . Those three years there did wonders for him: he broadened out in the sholders and developed power. Now it isn't safe to pitch high to him, he's liable to slap it over the right field fence . . . It was just the result of playing ball every day" . . . Still thinking of Marion, Frank sighed: "Well anybody can make mistakes." That's what he used to tell the umpires—and that generally was a mistake, too.

"Monday Matinee"

Johnny Fulton, former Stanford half-miler who spent the winter running in Australia, will be working in New York this summer but he plans to take time off in hope of reaching top shape for the 1948 olympics . . . Sam (Sugar Bowl) Corenswet, says he hopes to get one or both of the big basketball tournament winners for his December game in New Orleans — and don't bet he hasn't got them signed up now . . . Ed Koffenberger, Duke's big cage star, also is a standout midfielder in lacrosse . . . Fred Eagan who developed the colt, came out with a flat prediction that Hoot Mon will win the Hambletonia. At this stage, who gives a hoot mon?

"Strikes or Brawls"

Six of the seven new umpires who will work in the Southwestern baseball league this summer are former servicemen—four from the navy, two from the infantry and one from the Army Air Corps . . . Prexy Stuart Stephenson can't decide whether its money that lures the veterans or just the urge to stay in the midst of a good scrap.

COLUMBUS PROBES 2 WEEKEND FIRES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 — Firemen today began an inquiry into two fires which caused damage estimated at $200,000 over the weekend while police held a man on investigation of arson.

Flames which drove 14 persons from nearby apartments and injured a fireman still flickered at the Ohio Furniture Co. as the probe began.

Fire virtually destroyed the Fruehauf Trailer Co. Sunday morning.

Damage at each place was estimated at $100,000.

Fire Inspector Charles Riley said he arrested a man in the vicinity of the furniture company fire as he attempted to enter the burning building. Riley said the man fled as fireman started to question him, and added the man interfered with firemen as they attempted to raise a ladder.

Fire Chief Clarence Ogborn said the five-story furniture building was blanketed by smoke when the first fire companies arrived, with the blaze apparently beginning at the rear of the structure.

Ogborn said all five floors were destroyed at the rear, that the roof caved in and part of the wall fell. Firemen said they feared other parts of the wall would topple before noon.

Fireman Harry Coontz, 28, received cut hands when he slipped and fell on broken glass.

Funeral Ritets Held For Lester L. Miller

Funeral services for Lester L. Miller of 126 East Walnut street were conducted Saturday morning in the Miller home and in the afternoon at Arcanum. Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiated. Burial was at Abbottsville.

Mr. Miller died in a hospital in Boston, Mass. He had been engaged in duties in Boston in connection with his position as insurance examiner for Ohio.

At one time he was secretary of the Marion Production Credit association, and was a former secretary of the Ohio Farm Equipment association.

OHIO STATE WINS TEAM SWIM MEET

Share Glory with 2 Who Break N.C.A.A. Records.

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, March 31—Joe Verdeur of LaSalle university, George Hoovernyde, Michigan State and Ohio State's stellar team cornered most of the glory in the annual N.C.A.A. championships which wound up Saturday night.

Verdeur, breaststroke stylist, twice cracked the N.C.A.A. mark in his 200-yard specialty and won the finals in 2 minutes 16.6 seconds to beat his own recognized world record of 2:13.5.

Ohio State, led by a quartet of divers and freestyler Bill Smith, buttoned up the team championship for the second successive year with a point total of 66—comfortably above the 39 gathered by second place Michigan.

Hoovernyde plowed the 1,500 meters in 19:44.2 to crack the N.C.A.A. record of 20:02.2 set in 1944 by K. Nakama. He finished behind Ohio State's Bill Smith in the 220-yard freestyle and was fourth in the 440 freestyle.

Miller Anderson, war-time fighter plane pilot, won both the high and low boards, the only champion to retain his crown. Placing behind him in both diving contests were his Ohio State teammates, Bruce Harlan, Jack Calhoun and James Strong, and their 1-2-3-4 finish marked the first time the feat had been accomplished by one team in an N.C.A.A. meet.

Ashley Sheep and Lamb Pool Sets New Record

The largest number of sheep and lambs ever to be marketed through the Ashley lamb pool were offered on Thursday when 1,067 head were graded and sent to market, Jesse Foust, president of the Delaware-Morrow-Marion County Sheep Improvement association announced.

Not only were the numbers of lambs greater at this pool but the quality of lambs was higher with more lambs grading in the better grades, Foust said.

Clipped lambs were almost double the number of wool lambs on the pool. There were 253 lambs grading blue, 393 grading red, and 277 grading yellow. The others were older sheep and cull ewes. Thirty-one farmers consigned lambs to this pool.

The blue grade wool lambs sold for $24.50, the red $23.50 and yellow grade $21.50. The blue clipped lambs sold for $23.50, red $22.50 and the yellow grade at $19.50. Sheep were $8 and down.

Two more pools are planned for April 10 and 24 which will close the present season.

The annual meeting and banquet will be held at Ashley school on Thursday, May 1.

Youngster Expresses Best Tribute at Cy Young Fete

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio Associated Press Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—A high school youngster sat behind us at Cy Young's 80th birthday party over at Newcomerstown's Saturday night.

He was dressed in a baseball uniform as part of the atmosphere surrounding the gala event for the gallant old moundsman. Speaker after speaker—a governor, a big league club president, a hurler who gained world-wide fame as the "schoolboy wonder"—took turns paying homage to the old fellow who between 1890 and 1912 won 511 major league games, pitched three no-hitters, and won two tilts in the first World Series.

But of all the tributes paid the ancient but still stalwart son of the Tuscarawas hills, probably the greatest was one whispered by the youth behind us to his neighbor:

"Gee, I'd trade all my hopes for just a few of Cy's memories," was his awe-stricken contribution.

"Pour It On"

Cy's neighbors and a host of baseball figures, really "poured it on" for the grand old fellow who was born just over the hill at Peoli, and who came back to settle down again after his whiplash arm had set the majors agog for more than a score of years — at never more than $2,500 a season.

Some 800 were on hand for the festivities. They gave Cy a new automobile, a sports jacket, a lifetime membership in the Old-Timers Baseball club, a contract of some sort with the Cleveland Indians, pipe tobacco for the remainder of his life, a formal resolution of praise from Ohio's senate and a key to the city of Newcomerstown where he already knows everyone by his first name.

But Bill Veeck, prexy of the Cleveland Indians, in a show-stopping speech, came up with a cheer-provoking invitation.

"Just let Cy pick the day," the grinning sports-shirted Indian chief said, "and the entire town of Newcomerstown is invited to Cleveland, as my guest, the Indians play. And we want the whole town to be there." (Population is 5,390)

Herbert on Hand

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and four members of his cabinet were on hand (the governor had to fly back from Washington to make it), along with a flock of baseball notables.

Among the group which greeted Cy out of the dim past were Jack Darrah, 80, of East Liverpool and George Westlake, [illegible] Belmont, who with Cy are the only survivors of the Canton club of 1890, from where Young was traded to Cleveland for a suit of clothes.

Then there was Pat Donohue of Springfield, the scout who discovered Bob Feller, and who caught Cy from 1908 to 1910 with the Boston Americans. "Sad Sam" Jones of Woodsfield, who with Cy and Herb Pennock were the other pitchers to stay in the majors 22 years, also was there.

Other old timers included Cy Butler of the old Giants, Johnny Walker of the White Sox, Josh Devore of Cincinnati, Johnny Bates the old American leaguer from Steubenville, scout Fred Hunter of Columbus, and a host of others.

Women's Service Club Meets at Prospect

Special to The Star

PROSPECT—Mrs. Dio Dix was hostess to the W.S.C.S. of the Prospect Methodist church March 26, at her home here. At the noon hour a covered dish luncheon was served.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Mrs. Maxwell Brown. During the business meeting the society voted to contribute $10 to the park supervision project.

Mrs. George Bird was in charge of devotions. Mrs. Frank Hazen gave a chapter of "India at the Threshold." The program was in charge of Mrs. W. G. Lehner. She was assisted by Mrs. W. M. Keller, Mrs. William Davids, Mrs. Maxwell Brown and Mrs. William Knackel. Next meeting will be April 23 with Mrs. Carl Gabriel.

CATFISH LURE
HERE'S HOW IT WORKS
A lure dipped into a specially prepared emulsion, dries quickly into a firm bait irresistible to catfish. Pictured above is the lure before and after dipping. It will cast like a bass plug and when in the water "Sluffs" a smoke-like substance that attracts catfish from a great distance. Baits can be made "Fast Sluffing" for pole fishing or made to last several days for set lines. Ingredients for emulsion may be purchased from local merchants and when made into bait will keep indefinitely.
One sample lure with full instructions how to make lure and emulsion, will be sent for ONE DOLLAR.
It's the best dollar you've ever spent if you want to catch catfish. Send your order now to

FORMER HEAD OF COUNTY HOME DIES

E. G. Slagle Stricken While on Visit.

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, March 31—Emanuel G. Slagle, 78, of Caledonia, former superintendent of Marion county home, died of a heart attack at 12:30 a. m. today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lenna E. Kemp three miles east of Mt. Gilead where he had gone last Thursday for a visit. He was stricken at 2 p. m. yesterday shortly after eating his dinner.

With the exception of seven years spent in Montana, Mr. Slagle lived his entire life in Marion county. He was a retired interior decorator. He was born Jan. 22, 1869 near Likens Chapel on what is now the Scioto Ordnance plant to Jacob and Jane Ann Foos Slagle, natives of Marion county. His marriage to Miss Loretta Lee took place Dec. 24, 1895 at Emigrant Mont. He was made superintendent at the county home in 1927 serving for four and one-half years. He attended the Universalist church here.

Surviving with the widow are three daughters, Mrs. Kemp, at whose home Mr. Slagle died, Mrs. Irma L. Ward of Ravenna and Mrs. Jane V. Ross of 274 North State street, Marion, and two sons, William L. Slagle of Mt. Vernon and Major Marion A. Slagle who is stationed at Forst Ord, Calif. Three grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ruff of Galion and a brother, Joseph Slagle of Hepburn also survive.

Friends may call at the Timson-Allen funeral home here after noon Tuesday. Completion of funeral services are awaiting word from Major Slagle.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31 — As more and more FM stations get on the air—the total is now around 155—even this noise-free broadcast service on the higher frequencies is having its problems.

The trouble is mainly interference with other services and interstation cross talk, along with some FM receiver difficulty. The whole matter is being studied by engineers of the federal communications commission and Major E. H. Armstrong, father of FM, believes all the apparent flaws can be cured.

Special for tonight: MBS 10:30 Cancer Fund Drive, to include Bob Hope, Joan Davis, Ginny Simms, Jerry Colonna, Frank Sinatra and the King's Men.

A dramatization of Christ's return following the Crucifixion comprises the third broadcast of The Easter Trilogy of the greatest story ever told, to be heard on Sunday, April 6, at 6:30 p. m., over the American Broadcasting company. Titled "The Resurrection," the drama reveals, with power and simplicity, the incidents surrounding the return of Christ three days after He died on the Cross.

FATHER FACES COURT IN SHOOTING FRAY

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., March 31 —A 45-year-old father of two small children today faced criminal charges in connection with a weekend shotgun fracas in which Simeon Hurley, 60, was killed and Mrs. Geneva Ruth Shaw, 29, wounded seriously.

Clinton County Prosecutor George L. Schilling said the woman's husband, Owen Shaw, 45, would be charged with murder and shooting with intent to kill. Wounded in the shoulder and neck, Mrs. Shaw was in serious condition in Hale hospital here.

The husband was in county jail recuperating from wounds which Sheriff Howard C. Botts said, were self-inflicted about midnight Saturday as five shotgun blasts rang out to climax an argument between Shaw and his wife at Hurley's home on the three C highway about one mile east of Wilmington.

The sheriff said Mrs. Shaw gave this version of the shooting.

The Shaws were not related to Hurley but he took them into his home several weeks ago after the family was unable to find a place to live. Last Monday Mrs. Shaw filed suit for divorce.

Late Saturday night, Shaw returned from Dayton where he had been working as a laborer and quarreled with his wife over the divorce action. He then left the house and returned with a pump-action shotgun.

Hurley and Mrs. Shaw were sitting in the living room when Shaw fired two shots through the front door, then entered the house to fire three more, the last of which was turned on himself. He did not molest the two children sleeping in a bedroom.

Although wounded, Mrs. Shaw ran from the house to call authorities.

Sheriff Botts said that when he arrived at the house he found Hurley dead on the floor, while Shaw was lying on the floor in a bedroom

Mrs. Ida Longshore Hostess to Circle

Mrs. Ida Longshore was hostess for a meeting of Circle No. 4 of the W. S. C. S., Epworth Methodist church, Thursday afternoon at her home at 136 East Mark street. Mrs. W. R. Bogart, leader, presided and for roll call the members reported on the number of church calls made during the month. Plans were made to establish a birthday fund to which the members will contribute on their anniversaries. A letter was read by Miss Mary Curl from Mrs. Homer Cole, supply secretary of the W.S.C.S. on the organization's project for the year and Mrs. H. S. Ruhl gave a report of the general meeting of the circles.

Devotions were by Mrs. Ruhl who read the 22nd chapter of Luke and for the program Mrs. Gladys Arter read the first chapter, "We Also Are India," from the study book, "Our Country Is India," by Chandran Devanesen. The next meeting will be with Mrs. James E. Wiley of 566 Cherry street with Mrs. W. R. Bogart as associate hostess.

BOWLING RESULTS

Helen Engeroff toppled the maples for a 232 game at Palace recreation Thursday night to top all performances in the Huber Men's and Women's league.

This was only one point off the night's high mark, a 234 rolled by Bryant in the Cooler league.

Her series score, which also included 170 and 172 games, was 573, also high for the Huber league.

Hinklin performing at Marion recreation in the Craftsman league turned in scores of 200 and 202 in posting the night's high scores, 593.

Bunnell turned in the high men's score in the Huber league connecting for 222.

Lyon, with 209, was the only other member of the league to hit the double century mark.

Others in the Universal Cooler league who topped the mark were Darnell with 224 and Wiant with 222. Darnell turned in a 583 series which was high for that league.

In the Craftsman league Shoemaker rolled scores of 211 and 202, and others rolling over 200 games were Schoenlaub 217, Johnson 201, McFarland 222, Peifer 210, DeBolt 202, Petrich 211, Owens 221, and Thibaut 203.

Women rolling scores of 150 or better were Leser 166, Lantz 150 and 182, Wellmeth 158 and 182, and Snyder 159.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I DID not have long to wait for Mary to exercise her wiles on me.

She luxuriated in her hot bath; then I gave her the brisk alcohol rub Dr. Twitchell had prescribed, and added to her night attire another of my cherished Christmas gifts, a quilted flowered silk bed-jacket which Mary dubbed "something out of this world."

Sitting propped up against her pillows, with my folding tray table spread across the bed, she devoured every crumb of the food which room service had sent up within fifteen minutes of my order, and drained every drop of hot tea from the pot. Then, when I had removed the trays, set the one from the hotel kitchen outside the door and put my folding table away, I wiped her face and hands with a damp cloth, dried them upon a towel, and, going to my desk, took the first act of my play from it and walked over to the bed with it.

With a little gasp, she feverishly snatched the paper book from my hands, and began to ruffle the pages.

"What is this? The first act, complete?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered. "I suppose you want to hear an outline of the play, first."

Not Tonight

"Not tonight," she answered surprisingly. "I just want to go after my own lines. What's my name in this new play?"

"I haven't decided yet," I told her. "I wanted to consult you, first, naturally. So, until the decision was finally made, I have called my heroine, Mary. You'll find your lines under that name."

"How charming!" she commented perfuctorily.

Then she looked up at me beguilingly.

"Auntie Madge?" she began pleadingly.

"Here it comes!" I told myself in panic. But with a mighty effort, I smiled at her, and made my voice indulgent.

"Yes, dearest?" I said encouragingly.

"You know I always 'go into the silence' when I study my lines, don't you?" she asked.

Studies Anywhere

I tried to keep my lips from quirking into a smile at that, for although, sometimes, in a temperamental streak which lasts for a day at the longest, she demands absolute solitude for study, she usually studies her lines anywhere she happens to be—in a car, in a railroad train, in the living room with the radio going and people talking, or even in the nursery, with Faith continually interrupting with questions.

"More or less," I said demurely, and she had the grace to blush, the first color I had seen in her cheeks since the hot bath took off her highly artistic and lifelike make-up.

But the shock and anxiety I had felt at the first sight of her pallor, were dwarfed by my anxiety over Mary's inexplicable desire — it should be called craving, I told myself—to study her lines in the first act of my play. And I found myself fairly quaking as I waited for the request from her which I knew inevitably was coming.

Totally Unreasonable

"You always have the fire extinguisher handy, don't you, dearest?" she asked. "But you can't put me out like a brush fire. I want to ask you to do something for me, something totally unreasonable, but which I'm sure you'll do because you love me."

"Suppose you tell me what it is," I parried.

"That bathroom is big enough to hold an armchair, isnt it?" she asked.

"Yes, if there were any reason for one being there," I told her.

"I have a reason," she said, with desperation in her voice. "I want you to put an armchair in the bathroom, take something to read there, and sit there for the hour I'm studying my lines. And close the door tightly."

Legion Auxiliary Meets at Dugout

At a meeting of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, Friday night in the Legion Dugout, an announcement was made that the girl chosen by the local auxiliary, Miss Joan Anderson, to attend the Buckeye Girls' State this year had been accepted by the board of directors. The Girls' State is to be held in June at Capital university in Columbus.

Plans were made for initiation of new members to be held at the next meeting, April 14, with a potluck supper at 6:30 preceding the meeting. Motion pictures of Pan America will also be shown.

A Danish postmaster, Einar Holboll, conceived the idea of the Christmas tuberculosis seal.
